FOREWORD . . .

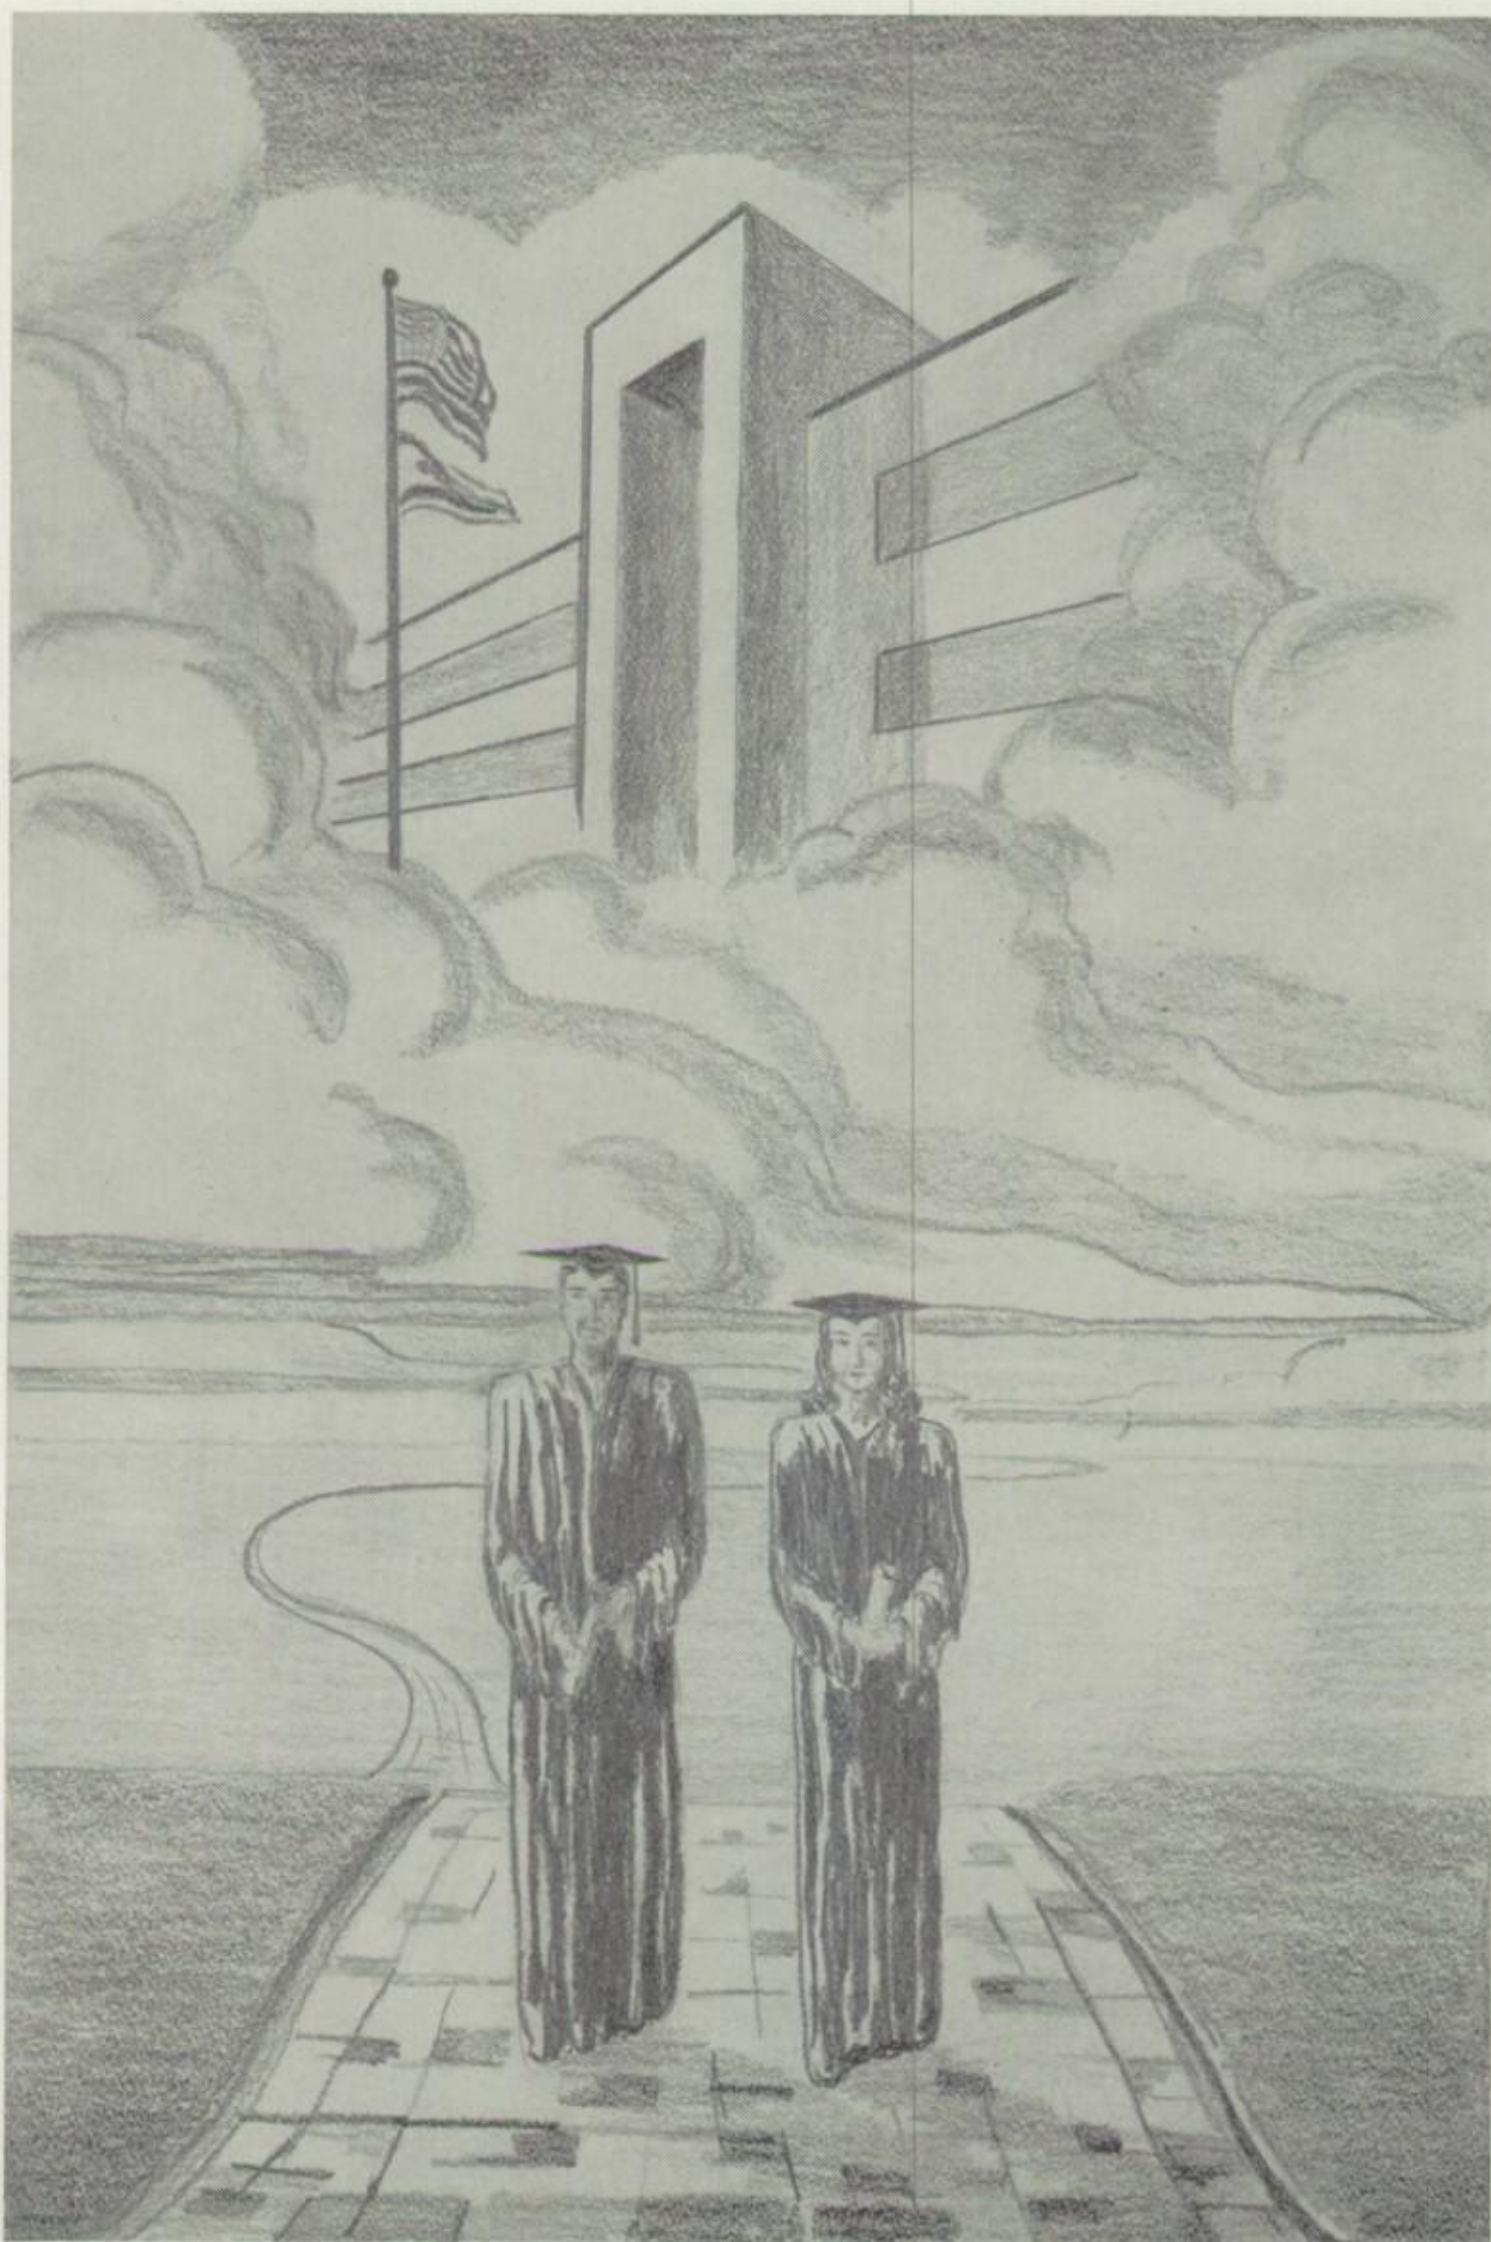

Space for the eight high schools has been apportioned again this year according to the size of the schools. Art for the frontispiece as well as all matter for the general literary section has been selected on merit by competent non-resident judges and the judges were instructed to appraise and rank the school sections solely for quality without regard to quantity because, as stated, space was allotted according to attendance.

There have been several White and Gold trophies since 1928. Yreka retired one trophy in 1928 after having won it three times over a period of years. Mount Shasta High School won permanently the second trophy in 1940, having won it the most times in a ten-year period. Schools to win the annual awards of the trophy during that period were 1929 Yreka, 1930 Yreka, 1931 Mount Shasta, 1932 Weed, 1933 Mount Shasta, 1934 McCloud, 1935 Mount Shasta, 1936 Yreka, 1937 McCloud, 1938 Yreka and McCloud tied for first place, and in 1939 Mount Shasta, McCloud and Yreka tied for first place. Mount Shasta won the trophy permanently in 1940.

A trophy, which was presented in 1941, was to be perpetual until won three times by one school. The first award of this trophy was made to Yreka High School in 1941. The second award of this trophy was made to the McCloud High School in 1942. The award for 1943 was made to the Yreka High School. In 1944 the award of the trophy was made to the McCloud High School, and the permanent award of this trophy was made to the McCloud High School in 1945. The first award of the new trophy, pictured here, was won by Yreka in 1946. The second award of this trophy was made to McCloud High School in 1947. The third award of the trophy was made to Mount Shasta High School in 1948 and Mount Shasta High School won it again in 1949. This year the trophy was awarded to Butte Valley High School for the largest number of points out of 100 distributed as follows:

THEME AND DEDICATION

We, the Seniors of 1950, have chosen for our central theme "Memories." "The 1950 White and Gold is not dedicated to anyone—rather it is a collection of memories. Every student leaving our schools takes with him memories of friends—teachers, students, friendly corridors—to keep with him always. They are the 1950 White and Gold."

FROM a thin line of thirteen states on the Atlantic seaboard, Americans of many origins have builded a nation across a continent to the shores of the Pacific, writing as they pressed on and on the American saga of freedom, equality, and opportunity. Along that march they paused to build public schools, all dedicated to the same high purpose, education for democracy, and liberty and justice for all. Today, in peace as in war, our country is claiming from these schools leadership they have every right to expect in the difficult work of preserving for ourselves and our posterity, the principles of freedom, justice and democracy. Our very way of life had been jeopardized with the attack on Pearl Harbor and our country accepted the gauge of battle which was forced upon us by the totalitarian governments. Into this battle for the right went the might and force of a free people fighting in defense of a cause which they know to be just. When their country was in danger, great numbers of students and former students of the Siskiyou Joint Union High School courageously entered the Armed Forces and gallantly defended the faith of America, on land—on sea—and in the air. Our students distinguished themselves in all branches of the service. Unfortunately, though, over a hundred of our high school students in the county have been killed in action, and over a hundred others have been wounded. Several of our former teachers have given their lives for our country, too. The coming of peace and the postwar era have brought problems to our country just as challenging and perhaps even more complex than those of the war, even if less dramatic.

We, the Seniors of 1950, have chosen for our central theme "Memories." "The 1950 WHITE AND GOLD is not dedicated to anyone—rather it is a collection of memories. Every student leaving our schools takes with him memories of friends—teachers, students, friendly corridors—to keep with him always. They are the 1950 White and Gold." As students and citizens the two main goals we should keep before us are: First, to win and secure the peace, and second, to preserve our American way of life, which is based on our Democratic American system of free enterprise and private initiative.

The American way and democracy are synonymous terms and the public school is the foundation stone of democracy. Seniors of the class of 1950 of the Siskiyou Joint Union High School District are gratefully appreciative of the fine system of high schools and the splendid educational opportunities the Board of Trustees of the Siskiyou Joint Union High School District is providing for the boys and girls of the Siskiyou Joint Union High Schools. We are ever mindful that the creative men who serve us as trustees and give so much of their time and energy to youth and our schools are themselves true symbols of the American way and our progressive school system.

When the Pilgrims came to America, one of their first acts was to establish a school for their children. And when the early pioneer settlers came to Siskiyou County they early established schools for the benefit of their children and their children's children. We are grateful to those early pioneers of education, and we are deeply grateful also to the men who make up the present progressive Board of Trustees of the Siskiyou Joint Union High School District, whose consciousness of the faithful and unselfish discharge of their civic duty can be their only reward and through whose efforts we are enjoying the benefits of one of the finest educational systems in the state.

The Seniors of 1950 are truly grateful and appreciative for the fine group of men who make up our progressive High School Board, and for the excellent system of high schools provided for us.

SISKIYOU COUNTY MUSEUM

The Siskiyou County Museum building has been completed and the time is not far distant when it will house a very fine exhibit of various items related to the early history of this region. This will include a creditable display pertinent to the mineral wealth which was responsible for the settlement of our county, geologic and pre-historic items and items connected with the peoples who were here before the white man came. With materials already on hand, that still to be received, and that which will be borrowed from other organizations, students will find much for either recreation or study.

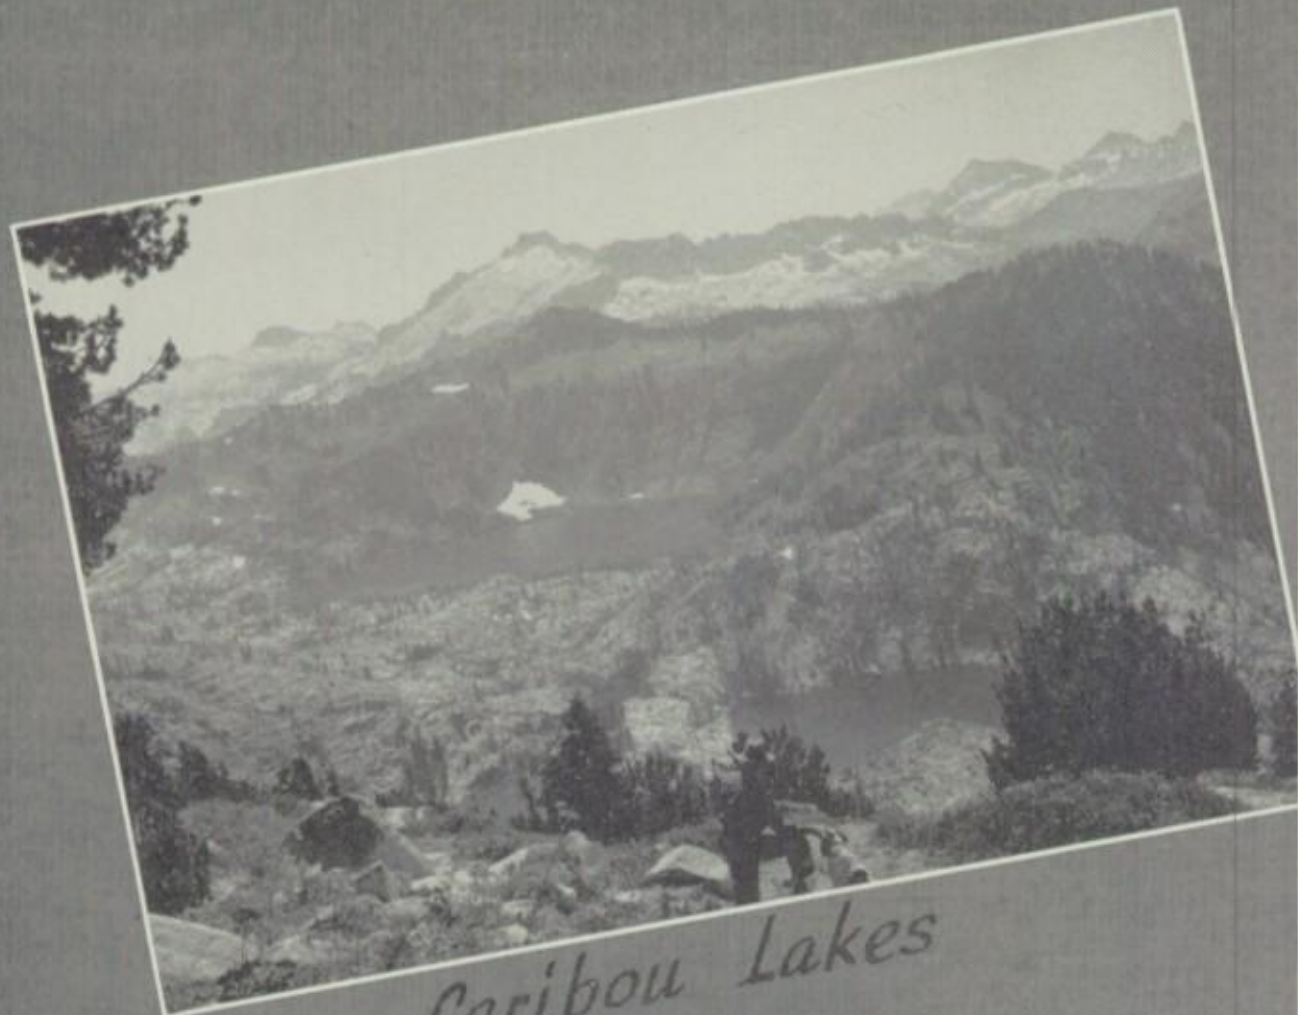

This building was designed to have the appearance of the Callahan Ranch Hotel, at Callahan, in Scott Valley. It is located in Yreka, on the main highway, just south of the Siskiyou County General Hospital. It will have 3,000 square feet of exhibit space on its main and mezzanine floors. Dedication is planned for late in the fall.

A MARBLE MOUNTAIN CATCH

The northern counties of the State of California are particularly endowed with an abundance of natural resources which contribute to the wealth of the nation. Its fields and forests produce a great variety of the products needed to sustain and develop the West. By judicious use of these resources we may keep them in continuous production forever. Protection from destructive harvesting, ruinous use and exploitation and protection from fire will ensure its preservation as a portion of the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland—where opportunities for outdoor recreation are unsurpassed.

SHASTA NATIONAL FOREST ... the Lookout

The true guardians of our National Forests are the lookouts. These men and women located at strategic points throughout the mountains of California form a closely-bound network with an almost one hundred per cent visual coverage of the millions of acres of Uncle Sam's forest land.

They are connected by telephone and radio with a central headquarters, and they are provided with maps, binoculars, compasses and alidades so that within seconds after spotting a whiff of smoke they can make a report pinpointing the actual location of the fire. Fire fighting crews miles away can then be moved in to catch the fire while it is small.

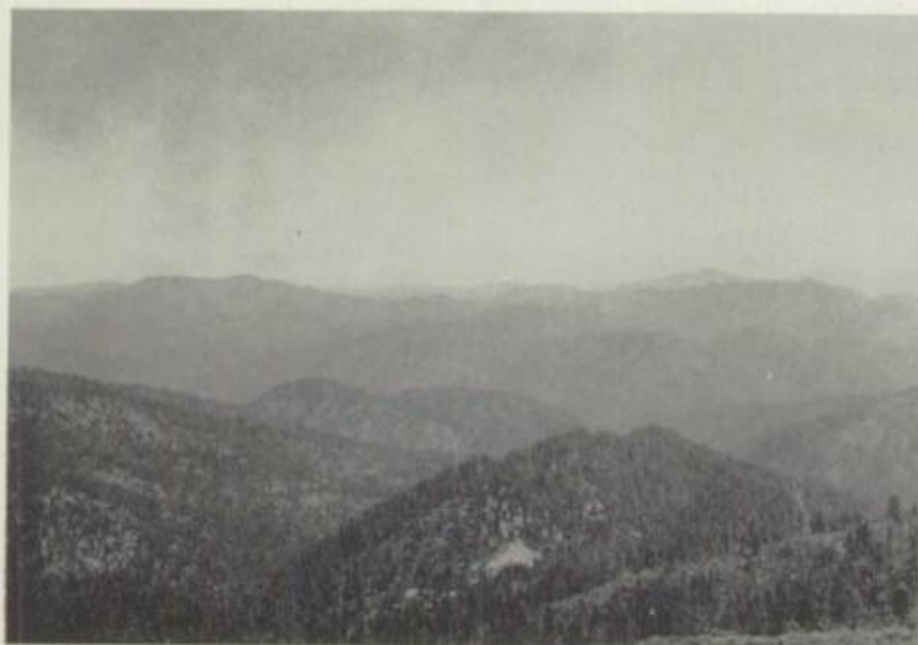

Often lookout points are accessible only by trail and the supplies have to be packed in on the backs of horses and mules. At some lookouts even the water has to be packed long distances.

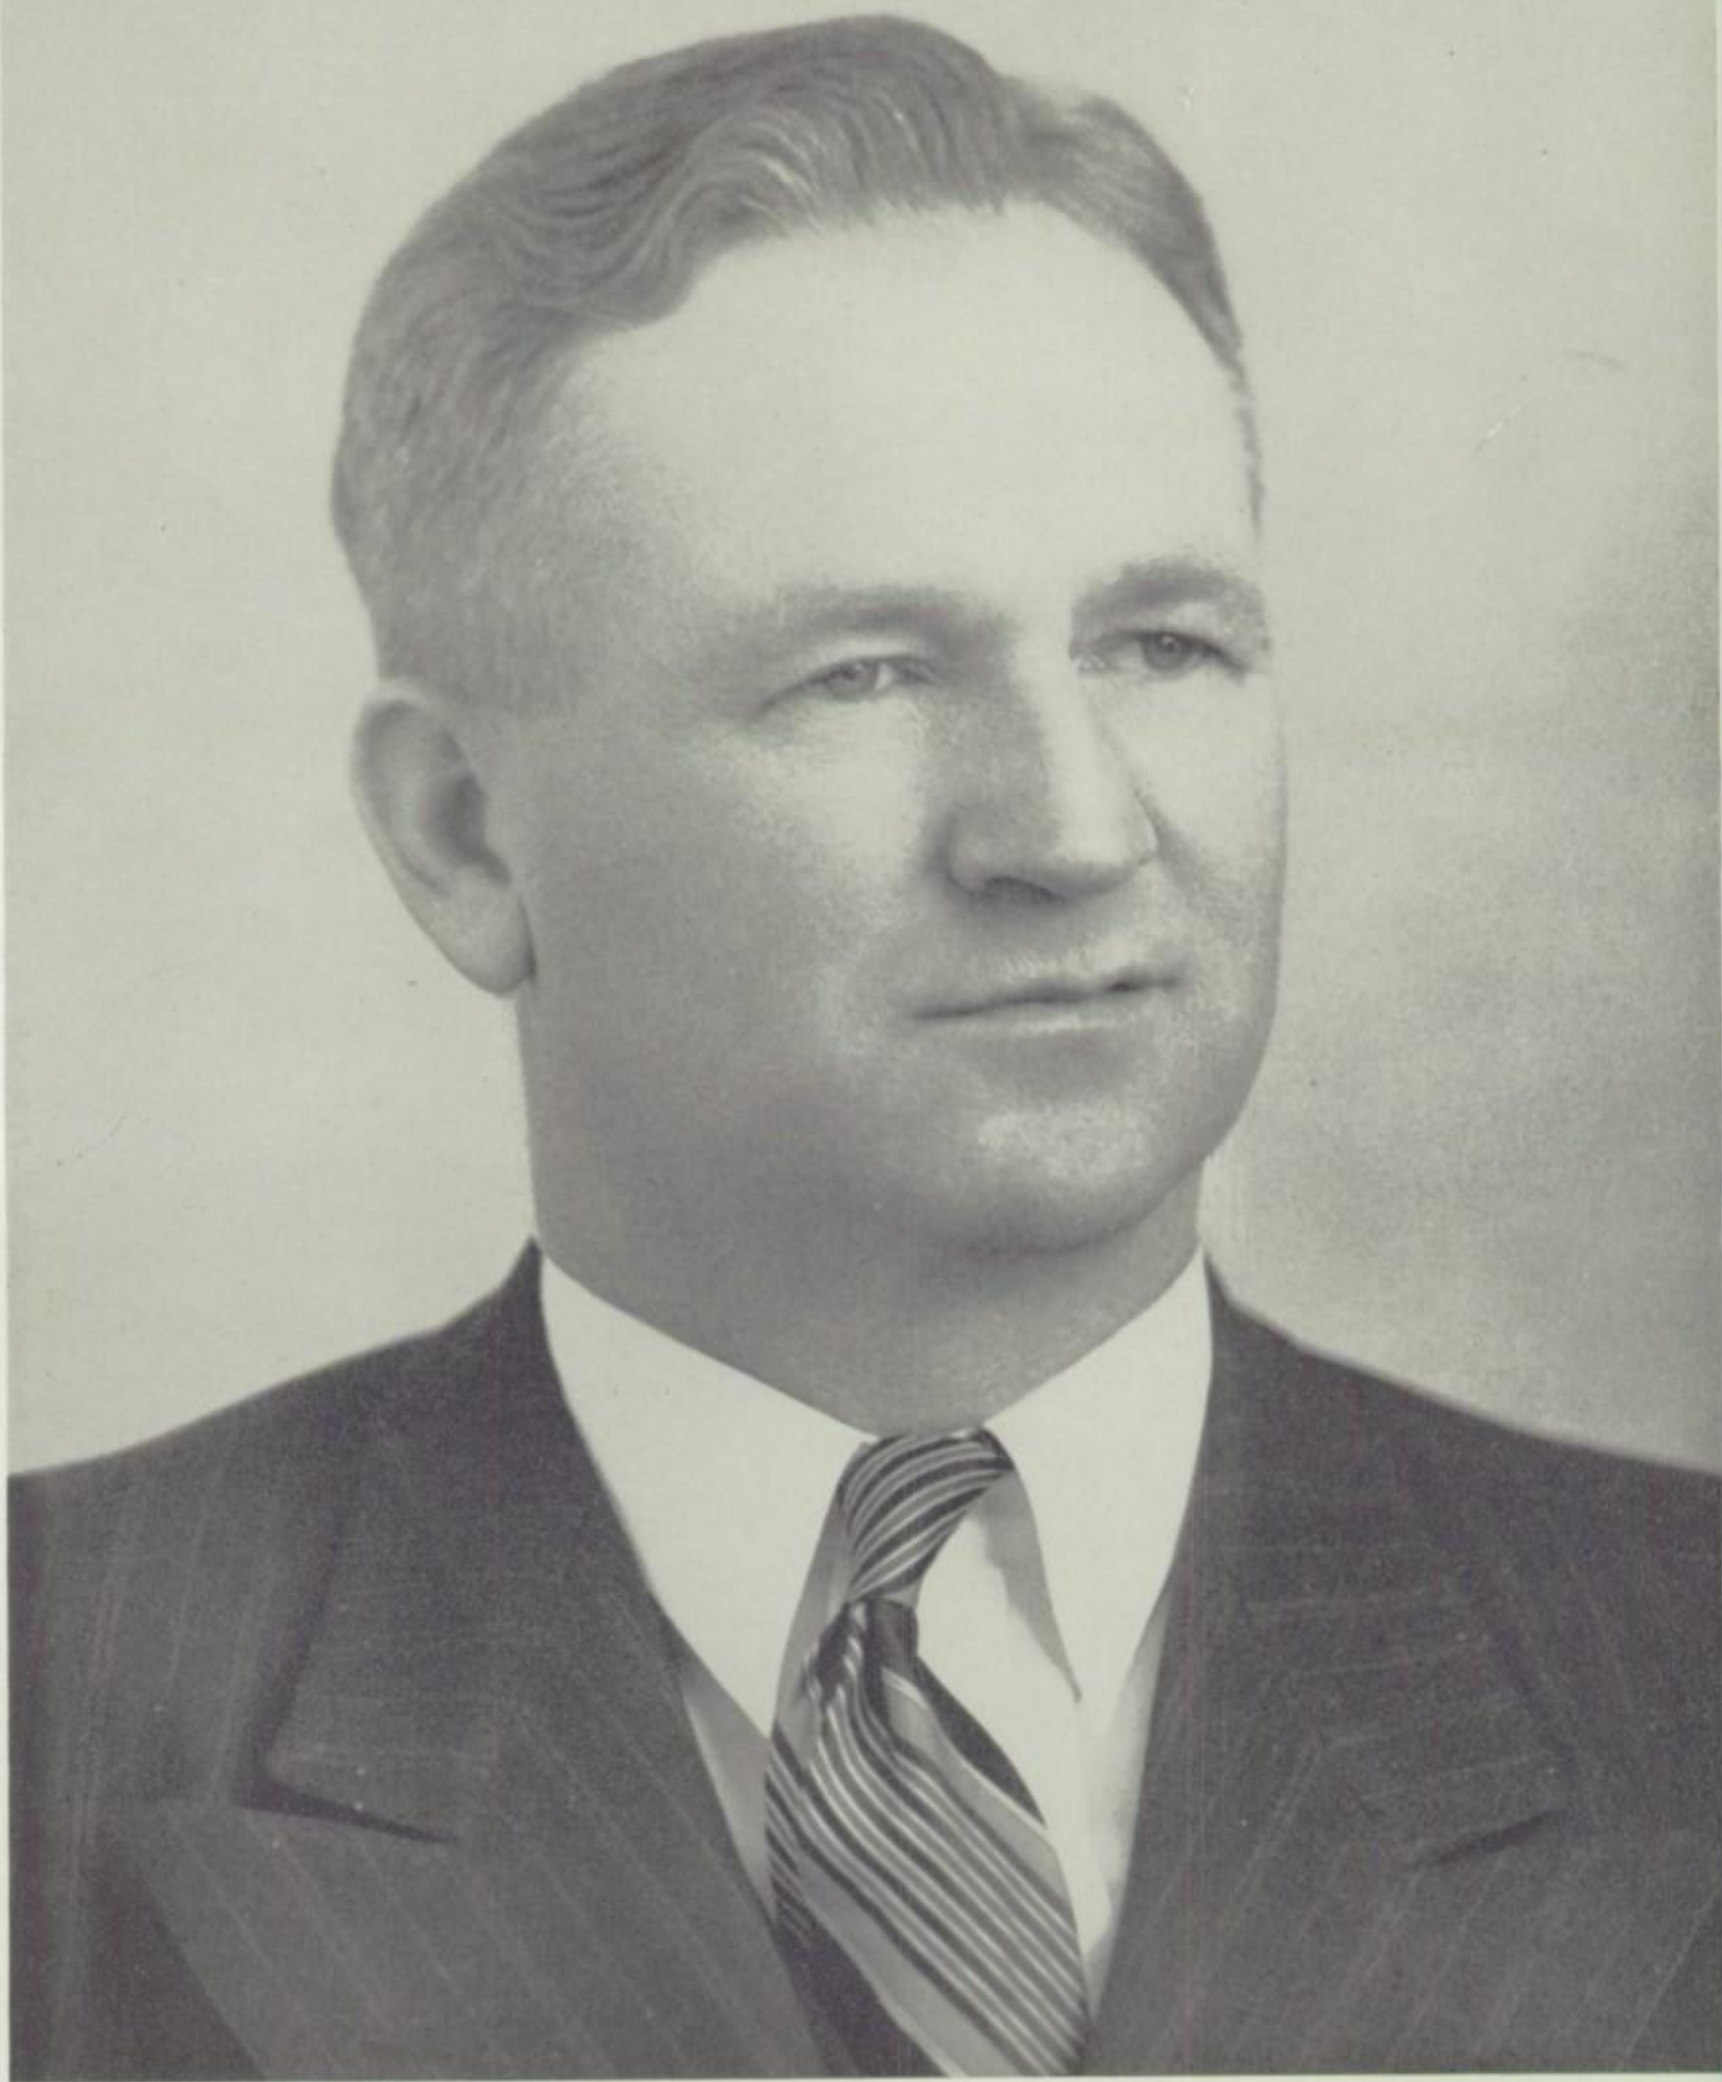

Being a lookout on one of Uncle Sam's forests is no cinch. It requires both mental and physical stamina to spend months bounded by the confines of a lookout station. The lookout must be alert—not only for fires but for his own well-being. In case of an accident it would be hours before help could be summoned and arrive. Often the tower is forty or fifty feet off the ground. The Shasta Forest has twenty-seven lookout stations.

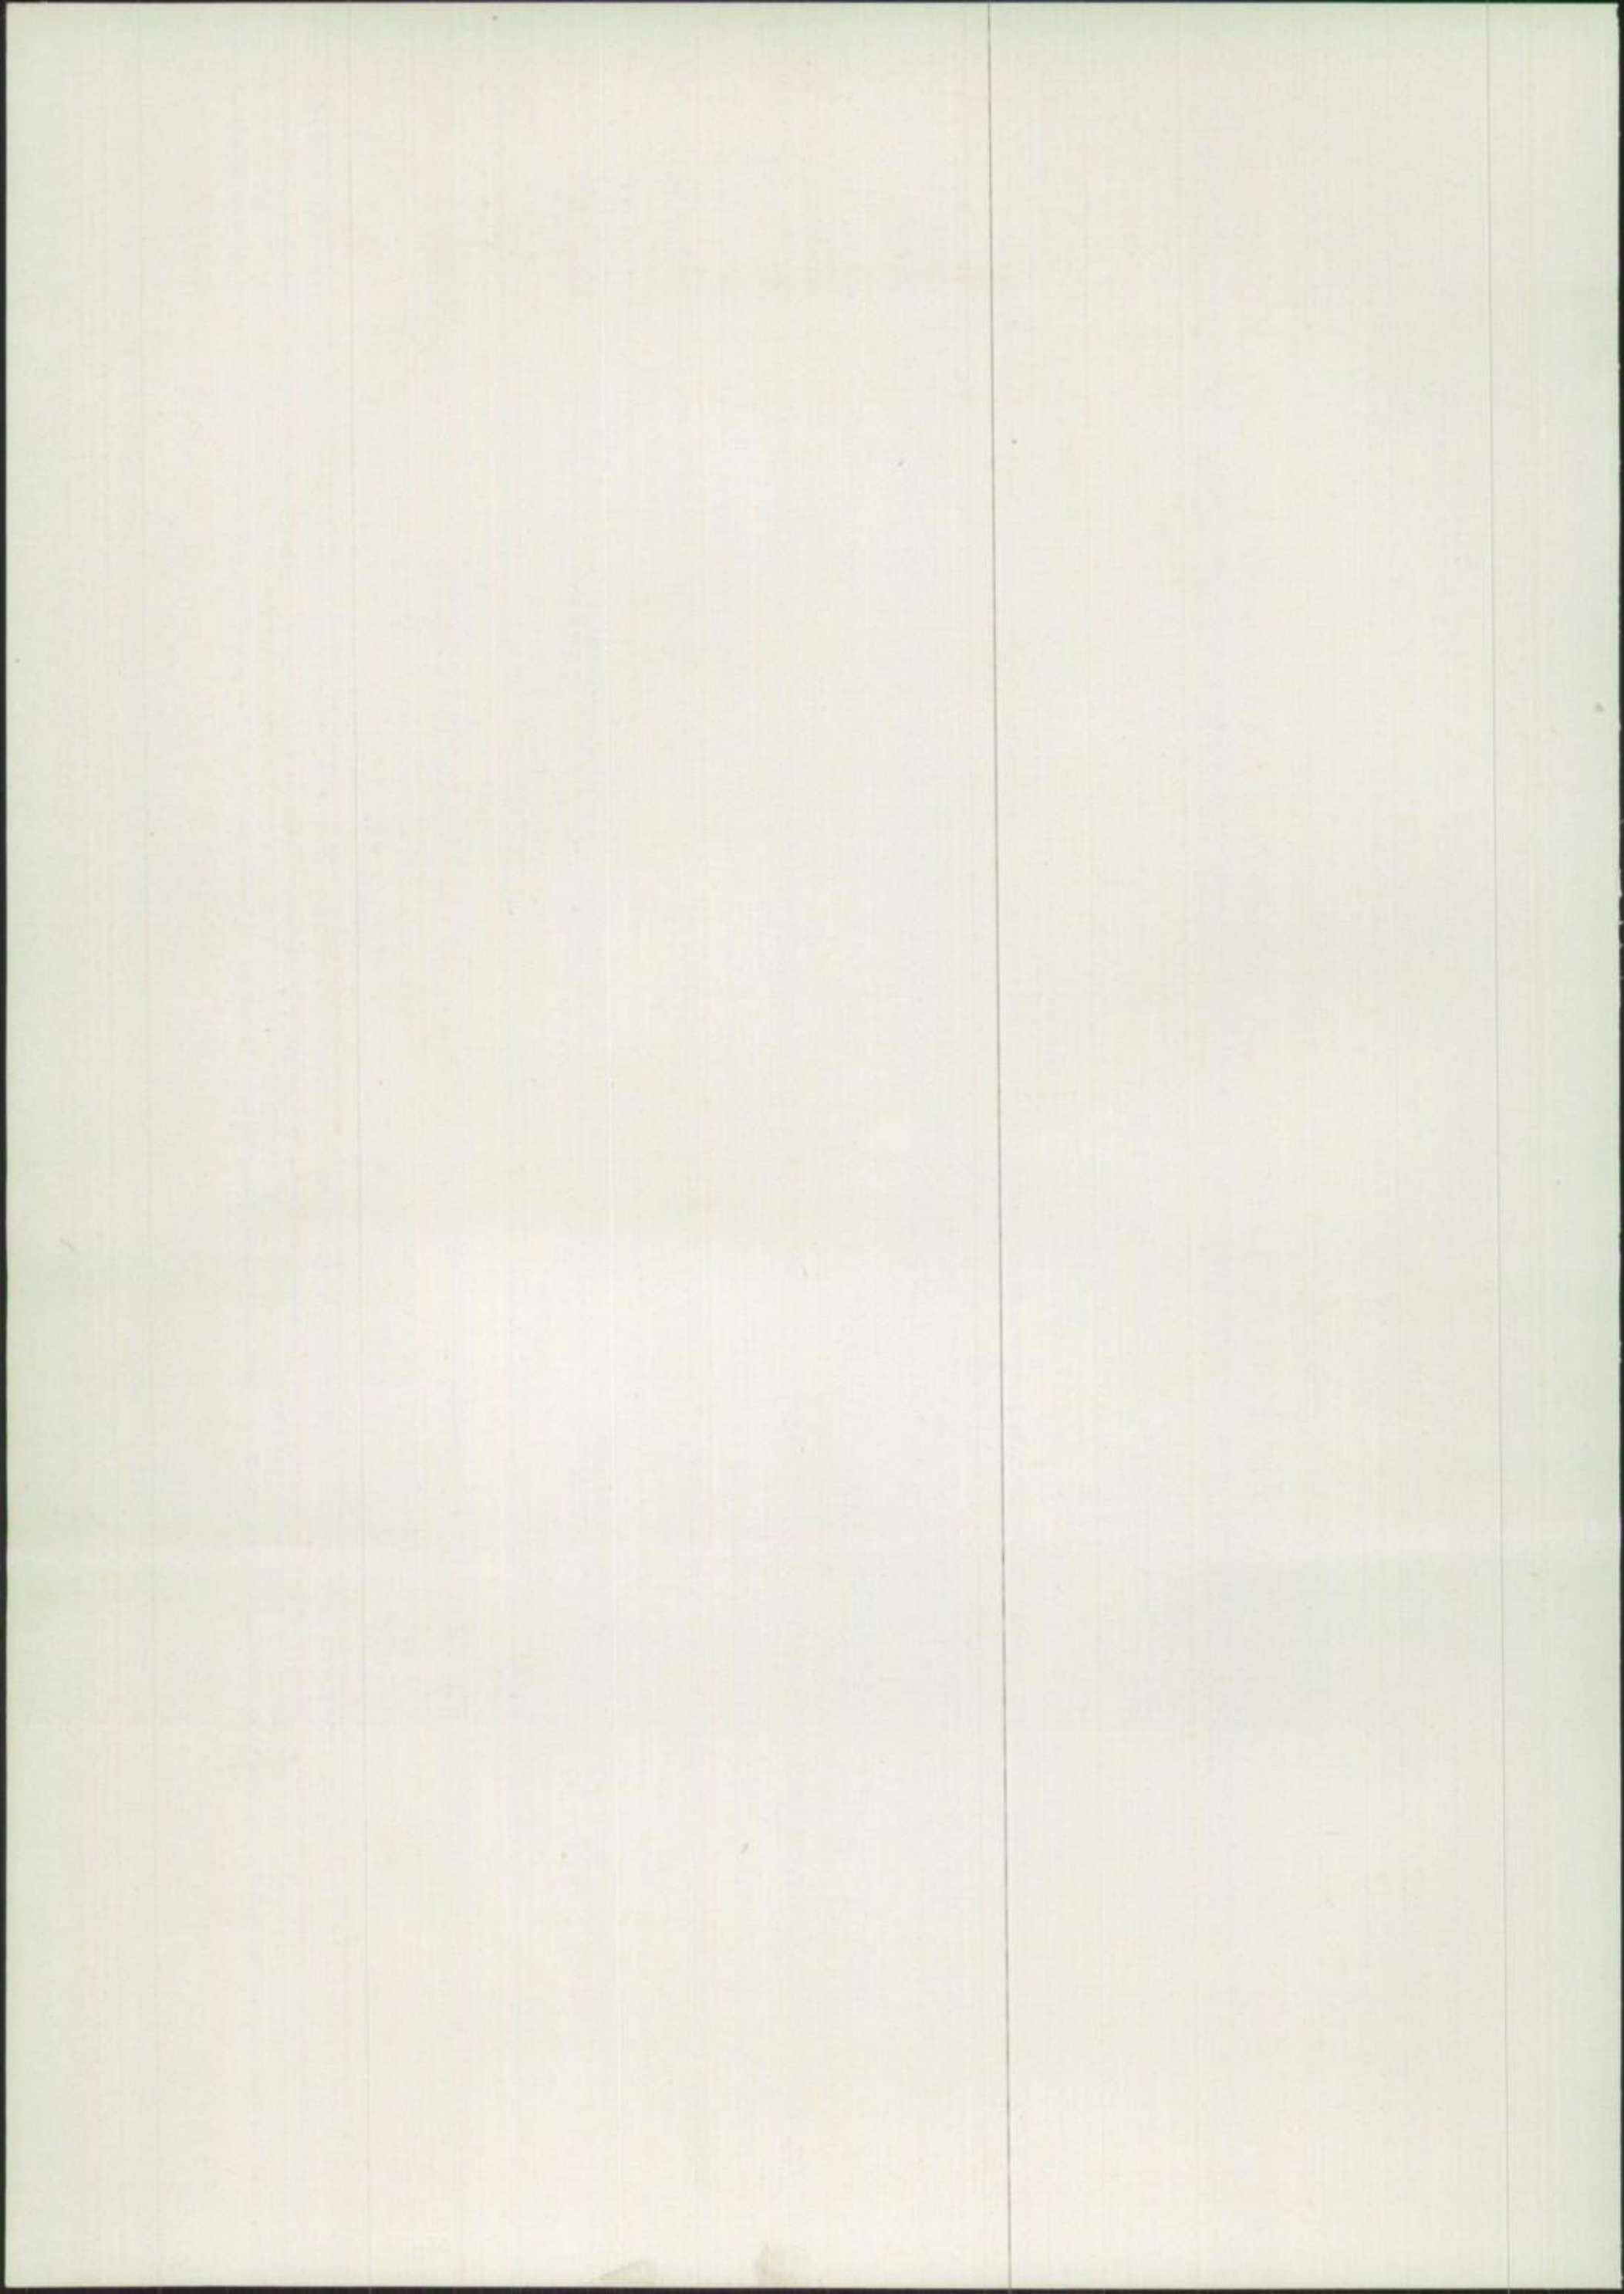

Some of these are manned by man and wife. This is the ideal situation. It affords companionship and allows for the two to take shifts so that seven-day-a-week protection can be secured and at the same time the lookout can have an occasional day off to go to town or maybe just to take a hike, go fishing or hunting.

For the wilderness lover there is much enjoyment to be found within a day's hike of most of our lookouts. Being a lookout is a tough job, but it still has its compensations.

MEMORIES

(Best essay)

As I sit trying to compose an essay, my mind is a complete blank. It seems impossible even to try to write something, but suddenly in my memory I see mothers standing in line, holding the hands of their prides and joys. Childish faces are scrubbed to a rosy-apple red, yet why do they linger and hide behind their mothers' skirts? Soon we hear a "Name please?" and the usual questions are asked. This is the first day of school. Our mothers will be going home soon and will leave us to this stranger. Yet as the days turn to months she is no longer a "stranger," but someone who is dear to our hearts. Nine months later we rush home with the good news, "I've passed! I've passed!"

Second graders. Oh, don't we think we're smart! It seems school is better this year. Our teacher patiently hears us read, and teaches us to write our names and our numbers. As I still remember, she was a sweet teacher. In the cold weather she would line every one up and put on rubber shoes, zip up snow suits, and hug and kiss each one of us goodbye. Still today I remember the lingering smell of her perfume, which remained with us until we were home.

As third graders, in my memory remains the Indian play we gave before the P.-T.A. The "Indians," of course, needed braids so my Dutch bob was braided. No, my braids were not long, but the thrill of having pigtails! I still remember the times I hid my papers under rocks because they weren't good enough to take home.

The fourth grade was the turning point in our lives, so we seemed to think. If I remember correctly, that was the grade in which I stayed after school every night to learn my time tables. That is also the grade in which the boy behind me put my braids in the ink well. (Who said that was only done in the days of long ago?)

I'm sure the fifth graders all remember at least the teacher. We still swear she wore a wig, but who can ever tell?

Every other week she would send to the office for a new yardstick. Oh, she used them, but not to measure.

Music appreciation heads the list of my memories in the sixth grade. We didn't appreciate it very much, but everyone had to have it.

Our seventh grade teacher was a mother to all of us.

In the eighth grade I worked as a librarian and saw to it that my job occupied all of my free time. It seems everyone awaits graduation a month or two before time, and it is truly a heavenly day when graduation comes!

Yet in the corner of my mind, now fuzzy with cobwebs, a new light shines. I see frightened little freshmen walking into the building and into the first year of high school. It seems as if they are holding their breath, afraid to breathe lest some mighty senior will say "Button, freshman."

The sophomore year is the time we welcomed the little freshmen.

Then comes the junior year, with the ordering of class rings and the most important part of all—the Junior Prom.

Seniors—mighty, strong, and superior in everything, awaiting the time when they can graduate.

High school life is still full of strange new experiences, and I am sure everyone would like to go back and relive some incidents in high school days.

Some will go to college, others will marry, and still others will go to work earning livings.

As my eyes grow heavy I can think no more of my school days, but in my memory they shall remain forever—my friends and my teachers, my hardships and my trials, my pleasures and my joys.

AN ESSAY

(Second place essay)

While day-dreaming in English class I was awakened by the sound of chalk scratching against the blackboard. There, for everyone to read, was the notice, "An essay will be expected once a week from each student."

I was greatly depressed by this thought—what could I write about? In the first place, what is an essay? Having been dreaming at the time the assignment was made, I missed the explanation given in class. Upon referring to the dictionary, I found that an essay may be a literary composition, but it also may mean an "attempt." Just as I decided that the least I could do was to comply with Mr. Webster's idea of the word and make an attempt, I fell asleep.

Having been confronted with this irksome task for a few days, I began to grow irritable and nervous, and the thoughts of the assignment haunted me, even in my sleep.

In a dream, the night before my composition was due, I viewed a literary parade, headed by color bearers; each one bore a suggested topic for my essay. One frilly flag suggested "Moonlit Garden"; on another flag, borne by a staunch knight, "The Days of Chivalry" was printed. Then a robot squeaked along with a banner over his shoulder, "The Atomic Age." Following, came a band of words which would add drama, spice, and flavor to my composition. With each note in its place, the melody which the band played had great harmony; just as an essay could have rhythm if each and every word were used to its best advantage. Leading the band were commas and semicolons twirling batons.

Marching in the parade was an army of thoughts joined together to make a complete, well-balanced composition—correct in every detail. But dodging in and out among the thoughts and words, two clowns were throwing fragments of sentences and misspelled words around, trying to destroy the harmony of this great pageant. But it was not long until the mischief-makers were banished by Professors Correctness and Precision, who were wearing neat, trim, mortarboards and black, flowing gowns.

Then the shrill sound of trumpets blaring in my head awoke me. The whole parade disappeared, and the beautiful theme vanished. Now I am in the same situation I was in before my mind was invaded by this exciting parade of thoughts.

OLD SCARFACE

(Best Story)

They called him Scarfaced Joe, the old prospector who lived in the cabin above the town where we lived. His cabin was situated about two miles from where we lived and it lay towards the head of the stream which ran down the canyon and out past the town. The old man came into town about twice a month for supplies, and to bring his meager supply of gold to the assayer's office. His face was hideously covered with scars and pockmarks. It was rumored that he had killed eight men. He never seemed to bother anybody, but still he had a very gruff manner which alone was enough to make anyone afraid of him. Sometimes when he came into town, the kids would hide behind fences and throw pebbles at him. He would slowly turn around and pull a wicked-looking knife out of its sheath and stare at them with those horrible blood-shot eyes. The kids would then turn and run for their lives. That, you see, is the kind of reputation Old Scarface had.

One sunny afternoon in October, I had decided to go fishing along the stream above Old Joe's cabin. About four o'clock in the afternoon I started to amble on back to town. That time of the year, the sun went down around six o'clock, so I knew I would have plenty of time to get back to town before supper. My parents never worried, though, if I was late because sometimes I would stop and spend the early part of the evening with one of my friends.

Along the mountainside which ran above the edge of the creek, there was a large patch of shalerock. At the top of the rock there appeared to be the mouth of a cave. I had always wanted to explore the cave, and I thought that now was as good a time as any to have a look at it. I cached my fishing equipment, and was soon on my way up the mountain to explore the cave.

After a long walk I reached the mouth of the cave. Its tremendous size impressed me. Its huge oval mouth was black, very black. As I stepped inside, the empty darkness sent chills up and down my spine. I had just taken about two steps inside when I heard a noise that froze the blood in my veins. I held my breath and stood as still as my shaking knees would permit. I could hear the noise a little clearer now—a sort of thumping or pounding noise. I worked my way around the bend in the cave and was mildly surprised to find the light a little brighter. I could now smell the fumes of a kerosene lantern. I began to wonder now: what should I do? My first thought was to get out of that cave and not be all day about doing it. I finally resolved, though, to see who was in the cave. As I worked my way on farther through the cave, I soon saw a dropped-off place, or, if you prefer, a sort of hole in the ground. The rays of lantern light were coming from this hole. I got down on my hands and knees now and was soon to the edge of the hole. I could now see the shadow of a man drilling in the rock. From where I was lying I could not possibly see who the man was, so I decided to lean as far as possible over the precipice to identify him if I could. My hand felt something cold and slippery and I instinctively drew back. The next thing I knew I was falling, then everything went black.

When I regained consciousness, I reasoned that there must have been some ice below where I was lying, and that I must have slipped off it into this pit. The man who had been drilling into the rock was gone now, and so was his lantern. I kept hearing a sputtering sort of noise coming from the wall, so I walked over and looked to see what it was. There were about six or eight holes in the wall and in each was a stick of dynamite with a lighted fuse. That explained the sputtering noise. I at once started looking for a way out of there fast. I found two or three matches in my pocket and started looking for an exit. Finally, after I had lit my last match, I saw some steps hewn out of one corner of the pit. It was not long until I found my way up the steps and was running toward the entrance of the cave. As I rounded the last turn, I came face to face with Old Scarface Joe. "What are you doing here, kid?" he asked. "Never mind what I'm doing here," I said. "This place is going to blow up and I s-sure d-don't intend to be in here when it does!" Old Scarface was surprised. "How did you know about this, boy?"

"I didn't think anyone knew of the gold hid in that rock. You needn't worry about the blast; it can't hurt us here."

"Gold in that rock," I thought. "So that's why the old buzzard has always tried to scare everyone away." Just then the blast went off. The ground, the walls, everything shook with the tremendous explosion. I heard a scream and looked around to see Old Scarface Joe writhing on the floor. A stalactite which had probably been hanging from the cave's roof for ages, had been jarred loose by the explosion. It had fallen and its razor-like point had pierced old Joe's back.

I saw that the old man could not last long, so I made him as comfortable as possible. I asked him why he had left me there in that pit to die with the explosion, after I had fallen.

"I never saw you fall," he said. "I have looked for that mother lode for so long. The other day I found it and made ready to blow it out. Each day I have come up here and drilled holes to blast with. There was enough gold in there for a king. You could see the streaks of it in the rock. If I could have known you were in there, I'd have brought you out with me."

"Joe," I said, "why have you always tried to scare people the way you did? You could have had many friends if you had tried."

"Boy, I'll tell you why," he said. "I haven't much longer to live, anyway. When I was a young man, I was studying to be a geologist; at the school I was attending there was another young man who worked with me in the laboratory.

"One day, while working with him in the Lab, he accidentally slipped and spilled acid all over my face. I was in the hospital for months with my face bandaged. My face has since been disfigured, as you can see.

"For awhile, I tried to face society, but it was no use. Everyone drew back in terror at the sight of my face. Finally, I decided to settle down here. With my geological knowledge, I have found enough gold to live.

"I could not help being gruff, the way people would stare at my face. I have looked for the mother lode since then. With it, I could have had my face corrected with plastic surgery. Son, I want to donate that gold for a new high school and junior college to be built at the edge of town. I have in my cabin the deeds to this cave and surrounding property. You will find them in my desk."

The old man was soon dead.

I reached Old Joe's cabin about dark, while on my way to tell the authorities of his death. I went inside and in his desk I found his deeds, and a picture of a very handsome young man. On the back of it I read this inscription: "Joseph Henry Hale, age nineteen, taken June the fourteenth, 1894."

A few years later, a very progressive high school and junior college stood at the edge of town. At the gates there was a monument. Toward the top was a photograph encased in glass. Below it were the words:

Evergreen High School and Junior College.
Dedicated to the memory of Joseph Henry Hale.

THE DANGEROUS SEX

(Second place story)

"I see Masher McGee is making a play for Lana Wilkins," came a comment in a high shrill tone from Henry Pringle.

"Ix-nay, Henry, ix-nay! He's apt to do you up but good just for looking at her," piped Wilbur Hawkins.

"That big tub of baloney smear me? Fooey! He don't scare me."

"He doesn't scare me either, but he could if he tried. Oh, oh, here he comes over here. We'd better beat it, but fast!"

"Just a minute, you two!"

"Well, well, well! If it isn't good old Masher—'H ya, Masher," came two replies in a musical tone, Wilbur's answer being echoed by Henry's.

"It 'pears to me that I saw you guys staring at my gurl!"

"Not me," Henry said nervously. "You know I'm going steady."

"I saw you looking at her, too, Wilbur," Masher said, grabbing him by the collar and shaking him until it seemed to make his head rattle.

"W-who, m-me? Don't ever pay attention to what I look at, Masher. Look at my eyes! See? no control," Wilbur stuttered, slightly scared and wiggling his eyes around in their sockets to prove they were out of control.

"Who's kiddin' who? You don't have a gurl and you were looking at mine."

"Heh, heh, heh, hear that, Henry? Masher doesn't even know I'm going steady!"

"You going steady? With who?"

"My mother!"

"That's a fact, Masher," Henry joined in, in protection of his friend. "Wilbur's best girl is his mother; otherwise, he's a woman hater."

"Well, he better not let me see him making eyes at Lana again!" With that statement Masher left the two scared youths.

"Boy, that was close, Wilbur. He's gone!"

"For awhile there I thought I was gone!"

"I guess the only way to live to a ripe old age is not to look at Lana any more."

"Yeah, and I don't want to have to look at Masher any more, either."

The next day at school all was forgotten and everything was rosy; well, for awhile anyway, until the principal called Lana into his office.

"Did you send for me, Mr. Hardwood?"

"Yes, come in, Lana."

"Miss Applegate tells me she doesn't think you're going to pass your math exams."

"Oh, dear! That would be awful. What do you suggest I do, Mr. Hardwood?"

"If I were you I would ask the brightest student in the math class to help me until time for the exams."

"That would be Wilbur; I'm sure he'll help me."

Still not suspecting the dastardly plot against him, we find Wilbur on his way home from school, talking to himself.

"What a character that Masher is! Two hundred pounds of muscle and not an ounce of brain."

"Oh, Wilburkins!"

"Oh, oh, it's Lana!" Wilbur gulped, trying to clear his throat of the lump that had just formed there.

"Wilburkins, dear, would you do itty bitty me a great big favor?"

"No! You do me one; get lost!"

"Wilbur! You mean you don't want to talk to me?"

"Sure! I'd love to talk to you, but you have a certain boy friend who doesn't want me to!"

"You mean Masher? Well, he's not telling me who I can talk to."

"Don't look now, but he's told me who I can talk to; and I still love these teeth."

"Wilbur! I'm going to flunk in the math exam unless you help me cram for it. You must help me, Wilbur!"

"Okay! Okay! I'll help you cram for the exam if you'll only scam before Masher sees us."

"Oh, Wilburkins, you're a dear! I'll expect you over at my house at eight."

"Okay! Okay! Let's get out of each other's sight before Masher sees us."

Wilbur hurried away as fast as he could and then a harrowing thought crossed his mind.

"Yipe! At her house? What have I done? If Masher shows up, I've just committed suicide."

At eight o'clock that night, Wilbur rang the bell and opened the door hurriedly. There was a startled scream; at the door was a pumpkin staring in Lana's face, with a face painted on it, resting on a huge overgrown coonskin coat, with a pair of nervous eyes peeping through the button holes.

"Oh, Wilbur, you frightened me half to death. My heart is beating like a jack hammer."

"If Masher had answered the door, mine wouldn't have been beating at all."

"So that's why you wore that disguise? You boys are all so afraid of Masher."

"Yeah, and so in love with life."

"Well, don't worry. Masher only drops in on Wednesday night."

"There's the door bell again; would you answer it, Wilburkins?"

"Yeah, sure."

When Wilbur opened the door, his face met that big, broad chest of Masher's. Wilbur, knowing that Masher didn't have an iota of sense, began to make like a Chinese butler.

"Solly; noblody's home! Goombye!"

"Huh? There's not? Okay, goodbye."

"What is it, Wilbur?"

"It's Wednesday night in person," Wilbur said, slamming the door in Masher's face. Masher's dull mind finally latched onto Wilbur's hoax.

"Hey, who's kiddin' who around here? Nobody home, huh? Well, I'll just wait 'till nobody comes out."

As we get back to Lana and Wilbur, we find that they have finished math and Wilbur has his pants legs rolled up in preparation for a mad dash for home and safety.

"Now, when I count to three, open the door and jump out of the way. One, two—"

"Good luck, Wilburkins; I hope you make it."

The next day we find Lana in Mr. Hardwood's office.

"I just dropped in, Mr. Hardwood, to tell you that I passed my math exam."

"Yes, your whole class passed, except Wilbur; he'll take the test as soon as he can see and write."

After school we find Wilbur down at the local malt shop, with a broken arm, two black and swollen eyes, a flat nose, and a few hundred scratches.

"I hate 'em, Henry; every one of 'em! I only wish more were born so I could hate them, too!"

"Man, I don't see how a guy could hate dames so much," was Henry's only answer.

The moral of this story is: "Don't let another guy's gal fool around with you."

THE FOREST FIRE

(Best poem)

The deer were drinking at the creek;
The birds sang in the trees;
The woods were alive with nature's joy,
As the coming of night drew near.

The forest lay in a quiet calm;
The sky was bright and clear,
The sun sank over the forest hill
As the coming of night drew near.

A long-tailed squirrel scurried back to his nest;
The deer bedded down for the night;
Two chipmunks played in the gathering dusk,
With little chirps of delight.

The forest grew quiet as night drew on;
The birds in the trees were still;
The moon came out from behind a cloud,
Outlining the trees on the hill.

Then suddenly out of the peaceful night
The wind brought a dreaded fear—
The scent of smoke was in the air,
It startled the sleeping deer.

The sound of the fire was discernable now—
The seething crackling roar;
The smoke was unbearable in the air
As it dropped to the forest floor.

A stampede soon started across the hill—
Sheer terror was in their veins
As the animals ran amuck with fear
Across the forest lanes.

One and all they headed for
The waters of Clannan's creek.
The flames crackled horribly in the air;
The smoke held a terrible reek.

Seething, crackling, horrible flames
Swept across the hill.
The fire leaped out from tree to tree
And took its prey at will.

The animals stood across the creek—
Escape was cut from the rear;
The fire had swept around the stream
Soon it would be here.

But out of the night and across the sky,
The wind began to blow
Against the angry roaring fire;
It stopped the animal's foe.

The wind blew the smoke back toward the fire;
Soon the animals all could see
An opening through the forest green
Where their safety ought to be.

The wind brought rainy clouds with it,
A storm was in the air.
Nature put out the fire, you see,
God keeps his forests fair.

INVITATION

(Second place poem)

You say the walk is lonely and you will not go.
You say that there is nothing there to see. It is not so.

The cool moist breeze is there. It comes from off the sea,
And blows away the staleness of the day.
The sand, an endless stretch of golden grains,
Is warm and shimmering 'neath the sun's bright ray.

The waves bring out their treasures from the depths,
And display them on the beach—a nature mart.
A gull that circles high above our heads,
Emits a cry that reaches down to pierce my heart.

The sky, as blue and calm as God can make it,
Joins in the distance with the sand and sea.
The freshness there, and the purity of color,
Makes the peaceful scene seem bright and free.

These are the things that you will feel and smell and see.
So come—and walk along the beach with me.

DEDICATION

As he has dedicated his years to teaching and guiding us, so we, the Senior Class, dedicate our section of the 1950 White and Gold to Mr. Allen Fowler. As a friend and teacher he is incomparable.

SENIORS 1950

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Our freshman year began as most freshman years begin, full of uncertainty and doubt about high school. Under the guiding hand of Mr. Forgy we regained our self-confidence and started up the path marked "Seniors." During the next year we took part in most student body activities and sports. Before we realized it we were mature upperclassmen. Our junior year holds many happy memories for us, including parties, football, basketball, and baseball games, and social gatherings. At last our senior year was a reality and we are looking forward now, reluctantly, to our graduation day. Clyde, Neil, and Bob have gone through the twelve years together, with Rocky joining us in our eighth year, Ken as a freshman, Ray and Gilbert as sophomores and Elisa as a senior.

SENIORS 1950 PROPHECY

As we gaze at the images cast on the screen by the new supersonic film projector we are amazed to see the Class of 1950 as they will appear in the year 2000. Bob Nelson has still got his job with the San Francisco Philharmonic Orchestra in which he plays his tuba with surprising accuracy for one so old. He started in this profession right after graduating with high musical honors. Gilbert Perkins has retired with ease after cleaning up a fortune on a sensational idea for a high-power rocket taxi which he calls PERKINS PLENTY POWER TAXI SERVICE. Rocky Harris is now head of the Yellow-Canary Corn-plaster Company and he and his wife Lee Rios Harris live in a beautiful home on the banks of the muddy Rio Grande. Their five lovely children are now working their way up from the stickem department of the business to the very top. Neil Evans and Kenny George became noted explorers and on their last trip down the Amazon River they disappeared and haven't been heard from since. Clyde Cardoza became another Rudolph Valentino in the movies and has now retired, but for some strange reason he has never married though he has been proposed to many times. Ray Boyles was jilted at the altar and ended up by marrying rich and beautiful Princess Yasmin. He and the princess now control most of India.

JUNIOR CLASS

There are six girls and two boys in the junior class. This is a small group but there are a great many fine characteristics to be found there. The two boys are on the football and basketball teams, Ann and Mary Ann are on the C.S.F., Ralph is vice-president of the student body, Mary Ann and Gae are president and vice-president of the Girls' League, Darlene is yell leader and four students are members of the band. The officers are: Ralph Hammond, president; Mary Freshour, vice-president; Darlene Staples, secretary; Mary Ann Branson, treasurer.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

During our sophomore year we have emerged from the bashfulness and humility of being "scrubs." Lester Barnhardt, Jack Davies, and Virgil Super have taken an active part in sports events, Mary Lou Mello and Mary Helen Cardoza represent us in the C.S.F. Individually the sophomores participate in almost all school activities. The class officers are: Barbara Martin, president; Mary Lou Mello, vice-president; Mary Helen Cardoza, secretary, and Virgil Super, treasurer.

FRESHMAN CLASS

One of the largest freshman classes of all times entered Fort Jones High School last fall. Nineteen "scrubs" were duly and immediately initiated by the eager sophomores. Five freshman boys are on the "B" basketball team, and there are two members on the C.S.F. Individually the sophomores participate in almost all school activities. The class erable amount of money to build up their class treasury. Their class officers are: Bruce Mello, president; Jim McCaw, vice-president; Rheta Perkins, secretary; Roy Leake, treasurer.

JOURNALISM STAFF

The journalism class, besides publishing the Fort Crier, is responsible for the Fort Jones section of the White and Gold. Mr. Pollard, our advisor, has tried to develop independence in each individual student by making him responsible for every issue. The Fort Crier has been known to be one of the best papers put out by the schools in the county. They will try to live up to their past reputation.

FOOTBALL

Due to the shortage of manpower again this year Fort Jones hasn't had a very successful season. The starting lineup included: Evans and Perkins at ends, Nelson at center, and Cardoza, Boyles, and Harris in the backfield. The substitutes were: Davies, George, Barnhardt, Hammer, Leake, Silva, and Hammond.

BASKETBALL

Again this year two Fort Jones High School teams were entered in the Siskiyou County league. The "B" team were the stars, winning almost as many games as they lost. The "A" team consisted of six seniors and one sophomore. The high scorers were Neil Evans and Clyde Cardoza.

SPORTS

The Fort Jones baseball team has some very good prospects. It lost four players from last year and their places will be filled by some up-and-coming freshmen that look very promising. Lettermen back from last year are: Clyde Cardoza, Neil Evans, Lester Barnhardt, Ray Boyles, Jack Davies, and Gene Silva. With track and tennis coming at the very last of the season Fort Jones will do her best to take part in both.

CLASS WILL

We, the seniors of '50, will our trouble in getting our senior pictures to the seniors of '51.

I, Gail Gordon, will my bow legs to Carole Evans, to enable her to ride horses.

I, Duane Hammon, will the use of my motor bike to Clarence so he can go see Patsy.

I, Rachel Effman, will my plumpness to Frances J., who could stand a few pounds.

I, Carole Carstensen, will my hospital bed to some lazy loafer.

I, Sam Wright, will my loving ability to Earl, who won't use his.

SENIOR PROPHECY

In 1956 while driving my jet-powered car, about a mile out of San Antone, Texas, I was crowded off the road by a careless woman driver. When she stopped I found out it was the former Gail Gordon, but now the famous Mrs. Don Zink, mother of three sets of quadruplets (a new world's record). After talking for a while, I found out that Sam Wright was the great "Philadelphia lawyer" who has handled over 4,000 cases and only lost one so far: that being a divorce suit between Duane Hammon, the fabulous motorbike king, and his wife, Bernice. I learned that Rachel Effman, after many years of trapping in Alaska, has settled down to a happy marriage with Claire. Carole Carstensen is assisting Harold Perkenstein, the great mathematician, who has just set forth a new theory on love.

GIRLS' SPORTS

The girls had two softball teams this year, a Blue Team and a Gold Team. Carole Carstensen was captain of the Blue Team, and Gail Gordon for the Gold Team. At this writing the Gold Team has won more games than the Blue Team.

Gail Gordon was elected head yell leader this year. Elected with her were Pat Wilder and Carole Carstensen as assistants.

Three girls were sent to Richardson Springs: Pat Wilder, Rachel Effman, and Frances A. Smith.

FOOTBALL TEAM

The Happy Camp Indians did exceptionally well in football this year, tying for the championship, but losing the play-off. Happy Camp defeated the Fort Jones Cubs in a practice game 38-0, and won the first league game from them by a score of 22-0. Our second league game was dropped to the Butte Valley Bulldogs 44-14.

The Indians came back to beat Fort Jones again 29-7, and the Bulldogs 14-8 which tied the Indians and the Bulldogs for the six-man championship. The play-off was held at night in Yreka, the Indians losing to the Butte Valley Bulldogs 78-40.

In the backfield, Dave Titus at left half was the Indians' power. Don Zink at right half was our speed merchant, and at quarter was Sam Wright carrying out the feats of blocking back. At right end we had Duane Hammon, a potent pass receiver, good blocker and deadly tackler. At center was Earl Sakota, who did an excellent job of plugging up the hole at center and taking short passes.

The early season injuries of Wesley Effman and Harold McCauley made our left end the weak spot. Our 110-pounders, Ken Runyon and Benny Attebery, filled in at left end with the aid of Clarence Barger and Robert Smith.

The Indians played a full season with only three substitutes.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

On September 10, 1946, as freshmen, shy and reserved, we entered high school with great hopes and prospects for the future four years. But troubles began early! Shortly though, we discovered that life can be beautiful, in the absence of sophomores. Therefore, we, the smallest class of all, with only twenty-five in number, tried with almost tireless efforts to avoid them. It was unquestionable that the majority of us were inclined to believe, during the first two weeks, that the sophomores were the link between the civilized and the uncivilized. However, the initiation, the most dreaded thing to a freshman, turned out not as bad as the upperclassmen had predicted. Following the initiation we were given a dance in the evening, and immediately the ordeal of initiation was forgotten. We gave the traditional return dance November 15. We also had a picnic together on the day the seniors "sneaked"; this turned out, contrary to our anticipations, to be very successful. Soon we came to accept the sophomores as members also of the human race and fellow lowerclassmen.

As sophomores, no longer shy and reserved, and under the supervision of our advisors, we had numerous parties. Among these parties, the one that will be remembered longest for various reasons is probably the "watermelon bust" at Biglow Meadows.

Studying took up most of our time in our junior year, although we managed to have some fun. Looking back on the Junior Play, we can earnestly say that we strained to do our level best to make it the success that it was. While painting our numerals on the dance hall roof, the traditional thing to do, our artists were so carried away with enthusiasm that they painted huge numerals everywhere except on the main buildings of the school until their paint supply was completely exhausted. Our memorable Junior-Senior Banquet with the theme "Gold Mine in the Sky," followed by the Junior Prom, were paid for from the proceeds of the play.

This, our last year in high school, is what we have looked forward to since that fateful day of September 10, 1948. With the usual efficient coöperation of our class, a YMCA conference, twelve schools attending, was made possible in the fall of our senior year. Following a program of stimulating panel discussions, a school luncheon and community sing, the day came to a close with a successful banquet and dance. We worked hard and zealously during the middle of the year in the production of our class play, "One Mad Night," which proved quite entertaining and helped our treasurer smile again. Now that the time has come, it seems rather sad that we will be leaving all these things behind, but we will be taking with us some important knowledge and many happy memories. All good things must come to an end! However, we look to the future with hopes of real achievements in all our endeavors.

SENIOR PROPHECY

Arriving in San Francisco on the Midnight Crawler, exhausted from the trip, I saw through bloodshot eyes my old classmate, Barbara Brinser, definitely not a sight for sore eyes. She was standing in the middle of the station eagerly looking for customers for her racing forms. She did not recognize me at first, for it had been ten years since she last saw me. She soon greeted me with a friendly "Hello" and a wide grin from a partially toothless mouth. "Why, Jimmy, I haven't seen you in a coon's age," she exclaimed. At once she invited me over to her home on 567th avenue. Later at her door I was greeted by Barbara's ten little ones. She apologetically explained, "I would have made it an even dozen but the depression of 1956, ya know. How have you been doing for yourself, Jim?" she asked.

"I guess you know that I am a Circuit Rider. Through my various travels I have seen many of our old classmates. Just the other day I saw Gary in Redding. He runs a funeral parlor and his favorite slogan is 'We do not fleece the deceased. Why don't you try our convenient lay-away plan?'"

"Say," said Barbara, "that reminds me. Melva is laying 'em away, too. Just yesterday I saw her picture on a billboard; she is known as 'Stedman the Strangler' now. Tonight she is wrestling with Gorgeous Georgia, the eastern women's champion. Recently I saw Melva's old boy friend, Floyd, on a park bench talking to the squirrels. He always was a lover of the simpler things. You remember Katherine, don't you? She is telling fortunes at the Gypsy Room; and Bill is driving a taxi here now. He is known as the 'Merry Hack Jockey.' That no-account Joe Ball and his mother are running a bar in Bakersfield, but Joe is drinking up all the profits. Louis Facchin is also the proprietor of an establishment known as 'Louie's Fleece House,' an exclusive gambling joint and night club. He owes much of his success to his torch singer, Eva, known as the 'Girl with the Warped Voice.' A few days ago in L. A. I saw Lois, who does bits in the movies. Who should I run into on Sunset boulevard but Jack Mah, a Denver foot specialist. He said that business was fine but his work stinks. Jack told me that Dolores is cook at Hillside Hospital in Denver, and her old neighbor, Leno, is a wealthy and happily married loan shark, who robs the rich as well as the poor.

"Oh, say," began Barbara, "someone told me Raedene has become a political reformer and is running for mayor in Utopia on the Vegetarian ticket. Her friend, Carol, married Jean and they are the owners of the 'Don't Junk It; Bring It Here' used car lot, in the same city."

"While in Portland," I said, "I met Galen standing outside his wig shoppe. His favorite motto is 'Hair for the Hairless'."

"If you desire good food during your stay," Barbara said, "don't eat at Selia's Chop House. She specializes in chops but ptomaine poisoning is the usual fare. All has not been lost; there still remains one classmate who has succeeded. Naomi, the only millionaire from our class, is operating a thriving opium den on Knob Hill in San Francisco.

"Well, I gotta fix the kids' supper now. Drop in again sometime when you are in town!"

The Student Council, our legislative body, has been very active this year. Student body cards were sold on a contest basis as in previous years. The Tillies won and were treated to a pie-a-la-mode dance by the Lillies; therefore, everyone was satisfied. Through the town officials we were able to obtain a Snack Bar, both for the high school and the grammar school. As the Snack Bar was for the students, we drew up the rules and regulations. We also sponsored activities and assembly programs.

The Girls' League Council is the legislative branch of the Girls' League. Mrs. Gerlicher acts as their advisor. The Council consists of the Girls' League officers and class representatives chosen by the individual classes according to the number of girls in the class. The Council is responsible for the distribution of points earned by the girls for participating in athletics, scholarship, citizenship, and engaging in various other activities. After a girl earns twelve hundred points, she gets her English M. The girls sell tickets, coke, and popcorn at all basketball games, and once in a while they even give a dance in the gym. This year, under the direction of their president, Naomi Manley, they plan to revise the Girls' League Constitution but will probably never get around to it.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

We, the juniors, noted for our barbaric ways, survived two years of high school, and are still enthusiastic, undiscouraged students. We are twenty-five in number, having lost two and gained three members. The officers elected at the beginning of the year were: Drew Rudgear, president; Su Caswell, vice-president; Helyn Wheeler, secretary; and Winona Mason, treasurer. Our class advisors are Mrs. Hunt and Mr. Ray. The boys in our class are very active in all school sports. Nine of our boys played on the basketball teams, while eight of them also participated in football. The girls also did very well in sports, after improving immensely since last year. At the beginning of the year we sponsored a "Sock-Hop" dance, giving prizes to dancers wearing the loudest socks. This affair proved to be very successful. We also contributed several students to the C.S.F. and the Honor Roll. We ended the year with our Junior Prom and Junior-Senior Banquet.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Having left our freshman year behind us, we sophomores returned last fall ready for work, ready for play and—heh, heh—ready for the freshmen. Although this was just our second year of high school, we settled down and began enjoying our lessons, but had fun also, tormenting the freshmen. With our minds full of hideous ideas for initiating them, such as only the species of man known as sophomorus horribilius could dream up, we waited for Initiation Day. Although most of the faculty thought we were a little over-enthusiastic, we believe we merely did our duty.

Our class boasts of an imposing number of students who turn out for sports, and both boys and girls compete with their friends and other classes. We are proud of our sophomore boys who have practiced hard to acquire positions on the "A" or "B" basketball teams. Usually lowerclassmen do not meet the qualifications.

Some of our sophomore girls in the cooking class prepared a delicious luncheon for the Y.M.C.A. conference and gained recognition for such excellent service. At least the delegates did not complain very loudly.

Although we are very strong-minded on sports, we also have brains in our heads used for studying. Anyway, we have a number of sophomore students who qualified for either the Honor Roll or the C.S.F.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The day finally came and there we all stood;
We were timid and frightened and didn't feel good.

The building looked big, and we felt awfully small.
When we finally walked in, we got lost in the hall.

The sophomores looked at us. How badly we rated!
They brought us to the gym and we got initiated;

Since our feelings weren't hurt and neither were we,
We gave them a dance to show we still were friendly.

We felt pretty good and were very zestful,
So we gave an assembly which turned out successful.

Time hurried on and we did too;
We no longer felt timid, no longer felt new.

Well, that's all our history, that is, up to now;
But just wait till we're seniors, and then—oh! wow!

YMCA CONFERENCE

The Y.M.C.A. conference was held in McCloud this year. Floyd Martin, our student body president, an honor student in the senior class and also a member of the Boy Scouts, ably led the pow-pow. Delegates from twelve different high schools representing northern California attended the meeting. Panel discussions by various schools took much of the time. Favorite topics were politics, sex, and student conduct.

Miss Shields and her fourth period "chefs" prepared and served an excellent luncheon at school. After the lunch the members joined in a community sing. Then more panel discussions were held, followed by election of officers for next year. Mr. Bramson of Chico State addressed the conference. A period of recreation ended the afternoon session.

In the evening the delegates enjoyed a banquet at the McCloud restaurant. Several speakers talked, while the food got cold. Tulelake, Dunsmuir, and McCloud entertained after dinner. The conference was topped off with a dance, bringing to a close another chapter in our book of memories.

HONOR SOCIETIES

Members of the California Scholastic Federation are the students who make the highest marks in school. To qualify, a boy or girl must have ten points: A's count three points and B's count one point; therefore, it is impossible to be in the C.S.F. without three A's.

To make the Honor Roll the students must work industriously also. A "B" average is required to become a member of this organization, which this year has many members from among the freshmen and sophomores as well as from the upperclassmen.

Under the direction of Mr. Belk, the Chorus and Band have done much to liven up the whole student body by furnishing music at the games and assemblies. We regret that due to a recurrence of an illness contracted during World War II, Mr. Belk was forced to resign at the end of the first semester. He was replaced by Mr. Robert K. Smith.

Again this spring the Chorus and Band plan to attend the Music Festival to take an active part, hoping to carry off some of the honors and do at least as well as the girls' chorus did last year when McCloud tied with Butte Valley for first place.

CLASS PLAYS

Our Junior Play, "Poor Dear Edgar," in a college dormitory setting, was the story of Edgar, a shy, backward college boy and the people and incidents that affected his life. The Senior Play, "One Mad Night," was quite the opposite, taking place in a home for the mentally ill. It had many historical and fictitious characters, such as John Alden, Priscilla, Lady Macbeth, Mr. Hyde, etc. Practically the same students were in both plays. Everyone enjoyed "One Mad Night," which was packed with hilarity and mystery.

"The Log," our school paper, is the work mainly of the journalism class, under the supervision of Miss Winslow. Mr. Cattuzzo and his typing II class help out greatly with the production end. Its paramount purpose is to distribute school news, but also it publishes small gossip and joke columns. Students who are not in the journalism class may also contribute to "The Log," which is published at irregular intervals. Although it comes out only sporadically, attempts are made to get out copies for special occasions, such as Armistic Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas. "The Log" is exchanged with other schools. The student body eagerly looks forward to each issue.

Copy and Production: Melva Stedman, Selia Saldana, Naomi Manley, Dolores Pellizzer, Barbara Brinser, Galen Hathaway, Jack Mah, Louise Cassanego, Virginia Mennucci, Winona Mason, and Bill Anderson.

On Friday, November 4, 1949, the McCloud "White and Gold" representatives traveled to Weed for the planning conference of the 1950 "White and Gold." There, Mr. Ozias, Lederer, Street & Zeus Company representative, gave ideas and suggestions to help us and also offered to assist us in planning our local sections.

Our staff was small this year, but very capable and coöperative, though we had many hindrances to cope with. During our weeks of production a great blizzard prevented the photographer from coming to take pictures. While the wind roared and snowflakes fluttered and whirled, our industrious staff shoveled their way to school to work earnestly on the "White and Gold." After various controversies and changes, we finally had our section completed.

Our staff, under the supervision of Mrs. Hunt, worked hard laying out the dummy, writing copy, mounting pictures, and worrying to meet the deadline. But it was work well worth all the trouble because our section will bring back in the future years, to our classmates, happy memories of our good old high school days.

SENIOR CLASS P.E.

The senior class is small but mighty. With coöperation from every girl we came out tops in kickball and second in volleyball.

SOPHOMORE CLASS P.E.

The sophomore class, composed of twenty-four able athletes, did very well in tournaments, taking second in kickball and third in volleyball.

JUNIOR CLASS P.E.

The junior class is small, too, but most of the members are the athletic type. We were tops in volleyball this year and came out third in kickball.

FRESHMAN CLASS P.E.

The freshman class, twenty-three in number, tried very hard in the tournaments, but came out fourth in kickball and volleyball.

THE ENGLISH M

The English "M" is an organization composed of girls who have earned their "M's." "M's" may be obtained through participation in all athletics, by making good citizenship records, and by participating willingly in extracurricular activities. To get an "M" a girl must have at least 1000 points; and to keep it, she must have at least 1250 at the end of the year.

Points for English "M" may be obtained in the following manner: (a) by playing in tournaments, first place, 100 for each girl on the winning team who plays at least two-thirds of a game; second place, 80; third place, 60; fourth place, 40; (b) by engaging in extracurricular activities, such as selling tickets, cokes, and popcorn at the games. (c) Fifty points may also be acquired for being a class officer.

THE BLOCK 'M'

The Block "M" is the athletic organization composed of boys who have earned their "M's" through participation in sports. To earn the Block, one must get at least two circles a year. The main purpose of the organization is to create greater interest in sports. Mr. Ray is advisor of the Block "M."

After three years, football returns to McCloud High School. The record of the football team is not exceptional, but it is believed that with more experience the football team would have made a better showing. The team through the year used a single wing with an unbalanced line. With the graduation of the class of 1950 the team loses three backfield men and two line men. McCloud's line average only one hundred and fifty pounds and the backfield averaged one hundred and forty-four pounds. Through the influx of bigger classes into McCloud High School, we look forward to bigger and better teams.

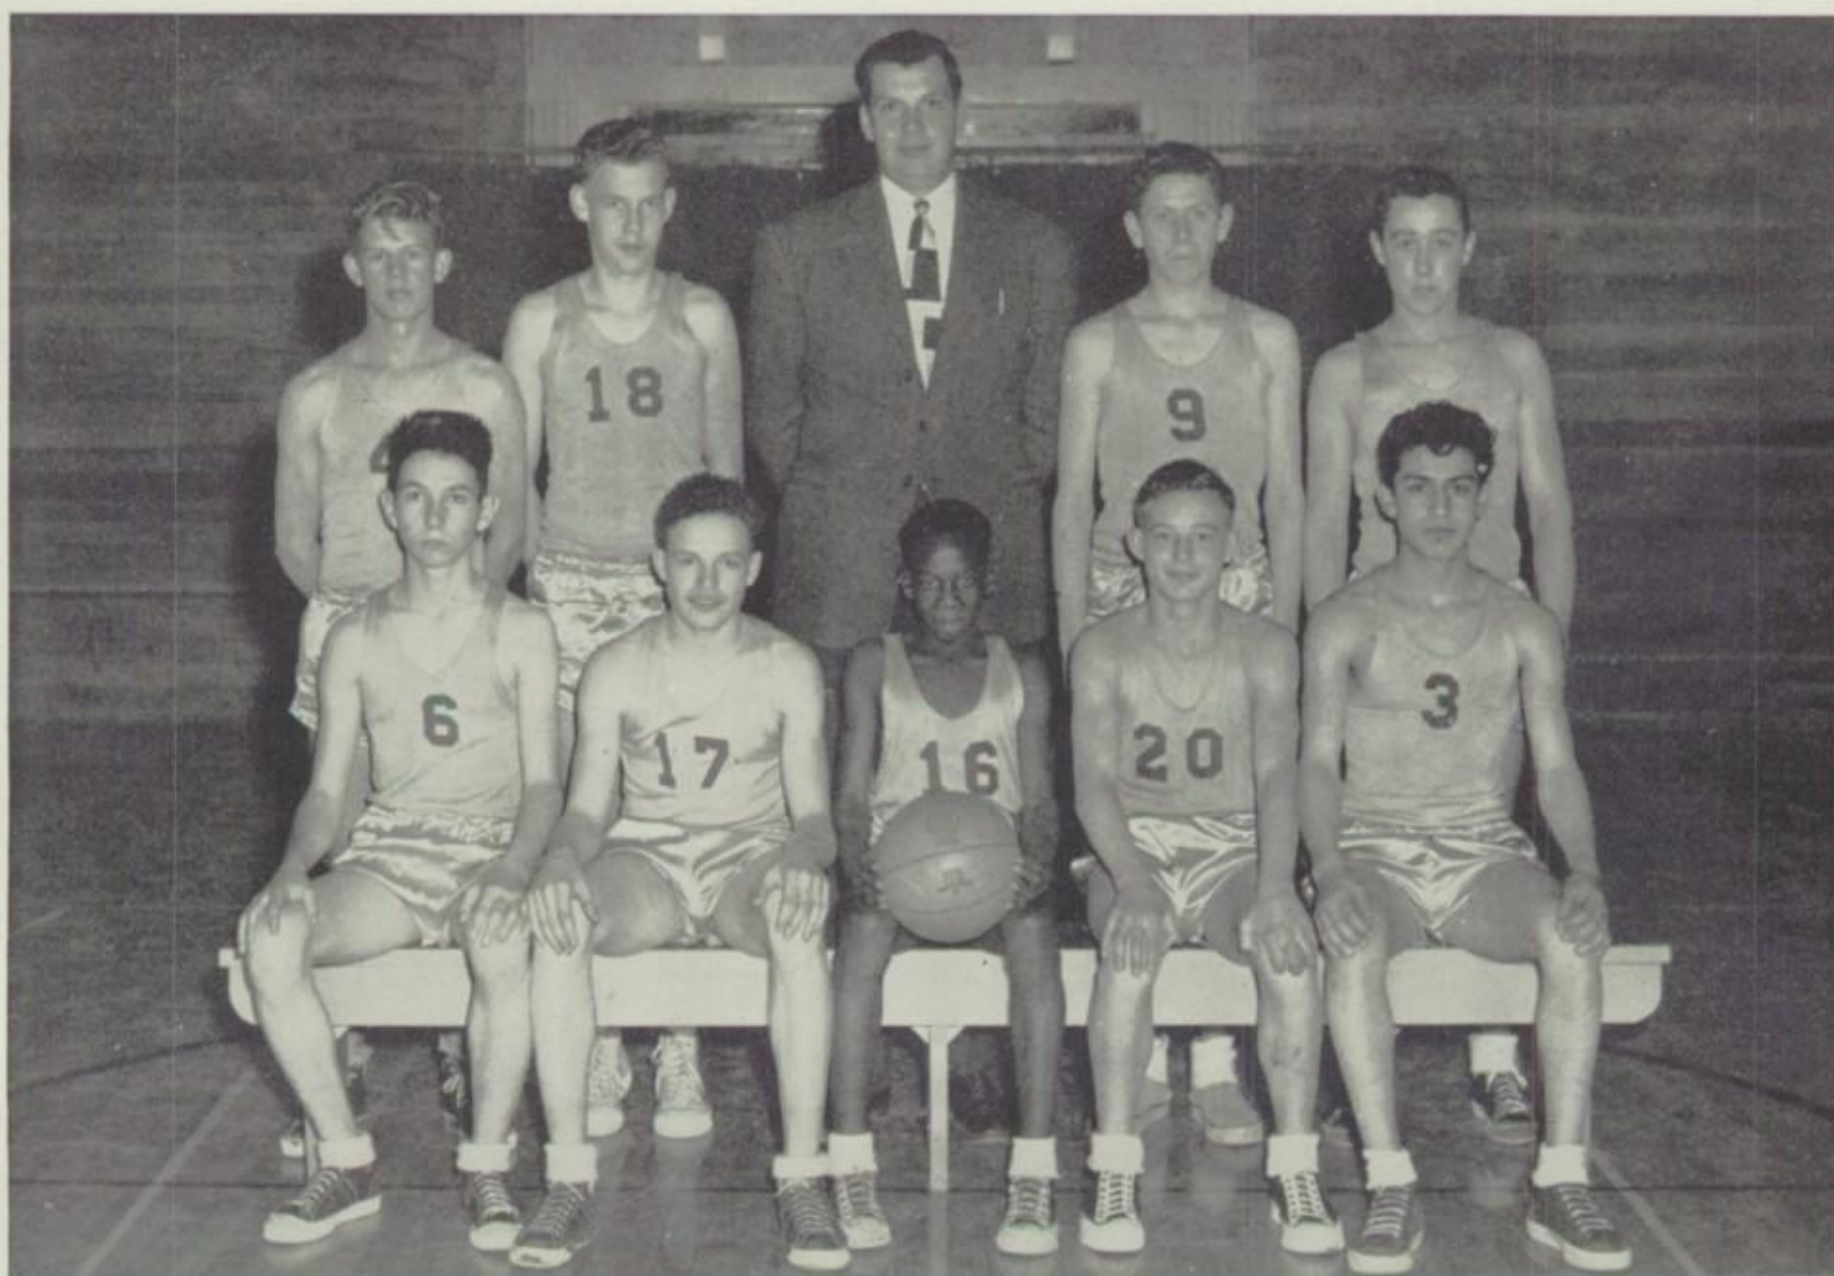

'A' TEAM

So far all but one of the games that were played have been won. The scores are as follows:

McCloud.....	26	Alturas	22
McCloud.....	68	Butte Valley	28
McCloud.....	34	Mt. Shasta	27
McCloud.....	57	Dunsmuir	40

'B' TEAM

The "B" squad with only one veteran returning from last year's team is lacking considerably in size and experience. They are ably coached by Mr. Nelson. So far their scores are as follows:

McCloud.....	21	Alturas	38
McCloud.....	25	Butte Valley	39
McCloud.....	35	Mt. Shasta	41
McCloud.....	12	Dunsmuir	54
McCloud.....	21	Fall River	43

'C' TEAM

This hard-fighting team went through the year with two wins and four losses. Although the scores of these games show that the team was actually defeated, they never gave up the chance for victory until the final seconds of the clock ticked by. Credit for this team is not entirely due to the players themselves but also to the fine coaching of Barret Ray. This team early in the season lost its chance for the championship; however, it never lost its spirit, which continued high throughout the season.

'D' TEAM

The "D" team, although they won only one game out of five, gained considerable experience and developed a better sense of team support. The general purpose of the "D" team is to train the boys to be better players and to give the smaller boys a chance to enter into inter-scholastic athletics so that they can earn their letters. Although the team won only one game, we believe that the sense of fair play they developed was far more important than winning games, because it is on this team that most players get their habits of fair play, which will be with them for the rest of their lives.

TRACK

Track is one of the most difficult of all sports in which to earn a circle "M." Although only eight points are required in track for an "M," there are few track meets at which to earn them. The boys may also place first or second at the County Meet to earn their circle "M." This year's team is composed largely of freshmen and sophomores. In the last two years McCloud has had little interest in track, but with this year's track team McCloud hopes to make a better showing at the County Meet. Most of the boys are more interested in the field events than they are in track. The broad jump, high jump, and the shot put are the most popular field events this year. The hurdle is the only track event which interests most. Many of the team members are also baseball players, and, therefore, work very hard at baseball in the spring.

BASEBALL

Although the call for baseball candidates has not been issued at the date of this writing, it is understood that the returning veterans will have to fight hard for their positions due to the promise shown by some of the freshmen and sophomores in the Junior League last summer. Nine players returned from last year's teams. With the near-championship material left over from last year's team and promising material from the freshmen and sophomores, the McCloud baseball nine should have more than a satisfactory showing this season.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council represents the students' side of school government. Working in collaboration with the school administration, the council plans and directs the social and athletic activities of the school year.

President, vice-president, secretary, business manager, and cheer queens, are elected by the students in a regular election by secret ballot. The president and vice-president must be seniors during their term in office, the others are selected from the student body at large, but preferably from the upper classes. The remainder of the Student Council is composed of the class presidents and the presidents of all school organizations. Officers elected for this year were: Wayne Porteous, president; Everett Sattler, vice-president; and Bobby Lou Mais, secretary.

The Student Council's main interest lies in the promotion of student welfare and the stimulation of interest in school affairs among students. We have put our trust in them, they are our representatives, and their hard work and diligent effort will reserve for them a special place in our storehouse of memories.

THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES

Thanks for the memories
Of events we hold so dear,
They so adorned each year
The picnics, dances and sport events
They all deserve a cheer.

Thanks for the memories
Of people that we knew
They numbered quite a few
Including teachers, classmates, pals,
And friends so warm and true.

Thanks for the memories
Of our ambitious aim—
Academic fame!
Of how we worked to reach that goal,
And then satisfaction came.

All precious memories
So numerous and bright
Within our hearts held tight
'Till future days may then unfold
Within this White and Gold we write.

We began our junior year with the election of our class officers under the direction of our advisors, Mr. Graves and Mr. Richmond. The results of the election: Alden Reichert was elected president; Fred Smades, vice-president; and Joyce Bangsburg, secretary-treasurer.

At the first of the year we were low on class funds so we decided to try selling balloons and ordered football and basketball balloons in our school colors to sell at home games.

Our class rings, which all of us were eagerly awaiting, arrived just before Thanksgiving. We were more than pleased with our rings which will always bring back memories of the happy school days spent at M.S.H.S.

There were five members from the junior class on the Student Council board and six of our class members were members of the White and Gold staff.

With the dawning of 1950 our vice-president, Fred Smades, took over the office of president when Alden Reichert moved away.

This year the Student Council decided to produce two student body plays instead of the annual junior and senior plays. With this new idea in mind the entire student body and faculty worked together to make these plays successful. The first one, entitled "Foot-Loose," was presented February 11. The cast which was composed of upperclassmen, included three juniors. Proceeds from this play were divided among the four classes with the largest percentage going to the junior class to help finance our Junior Prom.

Our colorful Junior Prom was finally put on in the spring with many people attending to make it a huge success.

We have spent a happy junior year and are eagerly awaiting our senior year.

Between the insignificance of being a freshman and the glory of an upperclassman comes the uneventful existence of the sophomore class, but they have participated in their share of school activities.

At their first class meeting they elected the following officers: Margaret Nielsen, president; Lowell Acord, vice-president; Lora Spini, secretary; and Emery Chandon, treasurer.

Next the sophomores settled down to initiating the freshmen. The traditional initiation party and dance was carried out successfully.

Later the freshmen gave the sophomores a return dance which was enjoyed by both the sophomores and student body.

A good share of the boys took part in football, basketball, and baseball. The girls have been active in the G.A.A. games of basketball, softball, and volleyball. The musical-minded sophomores have had their places in Band and Chorus.

Two sophomore girls had parts in the student body play, "Foot-Loose," and several others helped in its production.

Our advisors have been Mrs. Newing and Mr. Day.

The sophomores have enjoyed this year very much and are eagerly looking forward to becoming upperclassmen.

FIRST ROW, left to right: Robert Stockton, John Williams, Joe Ceccato, Alice Self, William Foltz, Alberta Krohnert, Bob Davis, Antionette Salvestro, Rex Shepard, Peggy Smades, Jim Toms, Ronald Nystrom. FRESHMAN CLASS

As the freshman class of the school our activities have been rather limited. The freshman initiation at which we were the chief performers as well as the guests will be an event that we will keep in our memories as one we thoroughly enjoyed. To express our appreciation we entertained the student body a few weeks later.

At Christmas time we enjoyed a class party. The entire class will never forget John Lamanna as Santa.

Among the various activities of the school, members of our class found places on the basketball and baseball teams, in G.A.A., Girls' League, student body play, and band.

For class officers we elected Joe Ceccato, president; Shirley Aubert, vice-president; Florence Maxted, secretary; and Alice Self, treasurer. Our advisors were Mrs. Helen Young and Mr. Robert Manley, whom we found very helpful during various difficulties that we encountered during the year.

Our class picnic, which is the final activity of the year, is one the whole class is looking forward to in eager anticipation.

C. S. F.

The California Scholarship Federation is a very select group of students who have proved themselves outstanding in scholastic achievement. Students must have at least ten points a semester in order to qualify for membership. These points are compiled from the grades recorded on the student's semester report card. Those students who qualify for membership seven semesters out of a possible eight during their high school careers, graduate with honors as indicated by a gold seal on their diplomas.

The main activity of the C.S.F. is the stimulation of scholastic interest, which is very necessary if the scholastic record of the school is to be maintained. Though the group is not large in number, it carries on its activities under the guidance of Mr. Robert B. Manley.

HONOR STUDENTS

The students pictured here have made a distinguished scholastic record for themselves during the 1949-50 year. To be considered an honor student it is necessary to have made all A's, B's and not more than one C. Maintaining this average requires interest, ability and good study habits plus many hours of hard studying. Keeping up grades sometimes means missing desired social events but the satisfaction of achievement is sufficient reward.

This group is not organized as a club and has had no planned activity. The only badge of distinction they have is that smile of accomplishment on report card day.

WHITE AND GOLD

The Mount Shasta High School section of your White and Gold has been brought to you through the efforts of a group of your own fellow students under the skillful supervision of Mrs. Newing. It has always been considered an honor to be chosen to work on the staff of White and Gold because the work that they produce represents the entire school. This staff's first concern is to faithfully and accurately record the activities and events of the school year as you lived them, that this might be a lasting remembrance of this year that will never come again.

Those chosen to work on the White and Gold staff this year were: Marie Davison and Lela Hartley, editors; Elmo Franchi, business manager; Jay Mills and Bobby Lou Mais, assistant business managers; Ray Henry, sports; Janet Orcutt, junior class editor; Margaret Nielsen, sophomore class editor; Shirley Aubert, freshman class editor; Pearl Hough, senior class and features; Mary Dalle Molle and Patty Bills, typists; Dick Albert and Nancy Schmid, art; Marilyn Hunter, production manager, and Alice Albert, features.

BEAR GROWLS

The addition of a Journalism II class to the curriculum of M.S.H.S. staffed the Bear Growls with a group of members who had some previous experience in the varied tasks involved in publishing a school paper. This gave the beginners in Journalism I a chance to get into the swing of things before the complete responsibility of getting out the paper was placed in their hands. Dick Albert was appointed editor until Mrs. Newing, Bear Growls' able advisor, deemed the members of the first-year class ready to try the job.

The highest award a journalism student can achieve is to have his name inscribed on the journalism plaque. Those press pins are something to be mighty proud of, too. Pearl Hough, class of '50, was the winner of the highest award last year and her name was duly inscribed on the plaque which is proudly displayed in the journalism room. Journalism students who had made "B" average were awarded Bear Growls press pins.

BAND

With fanfare and great pleasure we present the 1949-50 band. From this basic concert and marching band come other such groups as the German Band, Trumpet Trio, Jazz Band, and Clarinet Quartet.

Realizing that such an active group was too great a task for one person to manage, the members formed a club this year, electing officers to assist Mr. Day.

The band had solid booking this year (per usual). Included on their calendar of events were the Redding Festival, the County Festival, Redding Clinic, Spring Concert, Memorial Day Parade and Graduation.

Our band has never had any trouble enlisting members because of the eventful program and interesting music offered. Their repertoire contained not only its share of marches and overtures but novelty numbers, boogie and bop as well. If a musical group is to be successful it requires a certain amount of discipline and drills on fundamentals but these things were more than outweighed by the enjoyment and entertainment offered. To those students who spent fourth period putting forth efforts and gaining satisfaction, the band will be one of their dearest memories.

CHEER LEADERS—TWIRLERS

One of our pleasantest memories in the years to come will be that of our three cheer leaders, Pearl, June, and Marilyn. In their gay blue and gold uniforms, cheering our teams in victory or defeat. They had beauty, they had pep, they had courage. No game was too far away, nor the weather too cold to keep them from accompanying the teams on their trips away from home. Frequently they were the team's sole cheering support and their presence sparked the teams to victory.

During our 1949-50 year our majorette and twirlers added an attractive page to our book of memories. They performed at such events as the Festival at Redding, the County Festival, and the Memorial Day Parade, perfectly drilled and smartly uniformed.

The fact that they had only two experienced girls at the first of the year did not present our twirlers with too great a problem. They substituted experience for enthusiasm and good hard work and turned out a group that will stand up with the best of them.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

The girls who were chosen to fill Girls' League offices in the election held last June were: Mary Dalle Molle, president; Margaret Reid, vice-president; and Nancy Schmid, secretary-treasurer. These girls stepped into their offices in September to serve with all the girls and women teachers in school to make this year's Girls' League activities successful. The girls got off to a flying start by having a pot-luck supper for the purpose of acquainting the girls who were new to M.S.H.S. this year with their fellow Girls' League members. A semi-formal Harvest Ball to which the girls escorted the boys, was the next Girls' League activity. During the intermission cakes were auctioned off to raise money for the annual Christmas Ball. Dancing around a Christmas tree to the music of Mr. Day's special band will long be remembered by those who attended the Christmas Ball, the climax of Girls' League events. With these events behind them the girls are looking forward to the spring term with plans for an April Fashion Show and a Mothers' Tea in May.

CADET CORPS

The Cadet Corps fills the need of organized military training for high school students. It extends a fine opportunity to boys who are military minded, for when they join the cadets they observe and actually participate in many military activities that are quite similar to those taught in the regular army. Aside from the military side of the matter, however, the boys receive a great deal of good from the strong disciplinary and regimentary methods employed.

Seventeen boys joined the ranks of the Cadet Corps this year. Captain Tom Driver was the top man in charge and he was assisted in his work by First Lieutenant Ted Miller, Second Lieutenant Emery Chandon, and First Sergeant Kenneth Beckham.

The boys began the year with a thorough study of the manual and hour upon hour of good hard drill work to whip them into shape. They then took up the proper use and handling of guns and participated in several county and district rifle matches during the year.

JUNIOR FIREMEN

The Junior Firemen is one of the most important service organizations in our school. These are the boys who, when the fire bell rings, see that the exit doors are open and that the hoses and other pieces of fire equipment ready for action, and to clear the building of all students in record time. This year Ray Henry, the only Junior Fireman left from last year's group, was elected fire chief for 1949-50. One of the fire chief's many jobs is to represent his organization at Student Council and whenever necessary. The group this year is composed of ten members, four of whom are seniors, four juniors, and two sophomores. The success of the group is due to the endless coöperation of this splendid group and through the combined effort and invaluable assistance of our principal, Mr. Delwin Poe, and Mount Shasta's fire chief, Mr. Frank Melo.

G. A. A.

The Girls' Athletic Association started the year with Jo Ann Wheeler as president; Geraldine Hough, vice-president and secretary; Joyce Bangsberg, treasurer; and Miss Rebecca Schweitzer as advisor. The seniors won the basketball championship play-offs. Competition in other fields of sports such as volleyball, soccer, badminton, and baseball is to be included in the schedule of G.A.A. activities for the spring term.

Although the G.A.A. is primarily concerned with promoting athletic competition and good sportsmanship, they have their social activities, too. The major contribution of the G.A.A. to the social program of M.S.H.S. is the "Gingham Gals' Gallop." This is a big event for the girls for they not only plan and put on this dance, but they also foot the bill and escort the boys Sadie Hawkins style. Points are accredited for participation in athletic competition and blocks and other insignia are awarded on the basis of the number of points a girl earns.

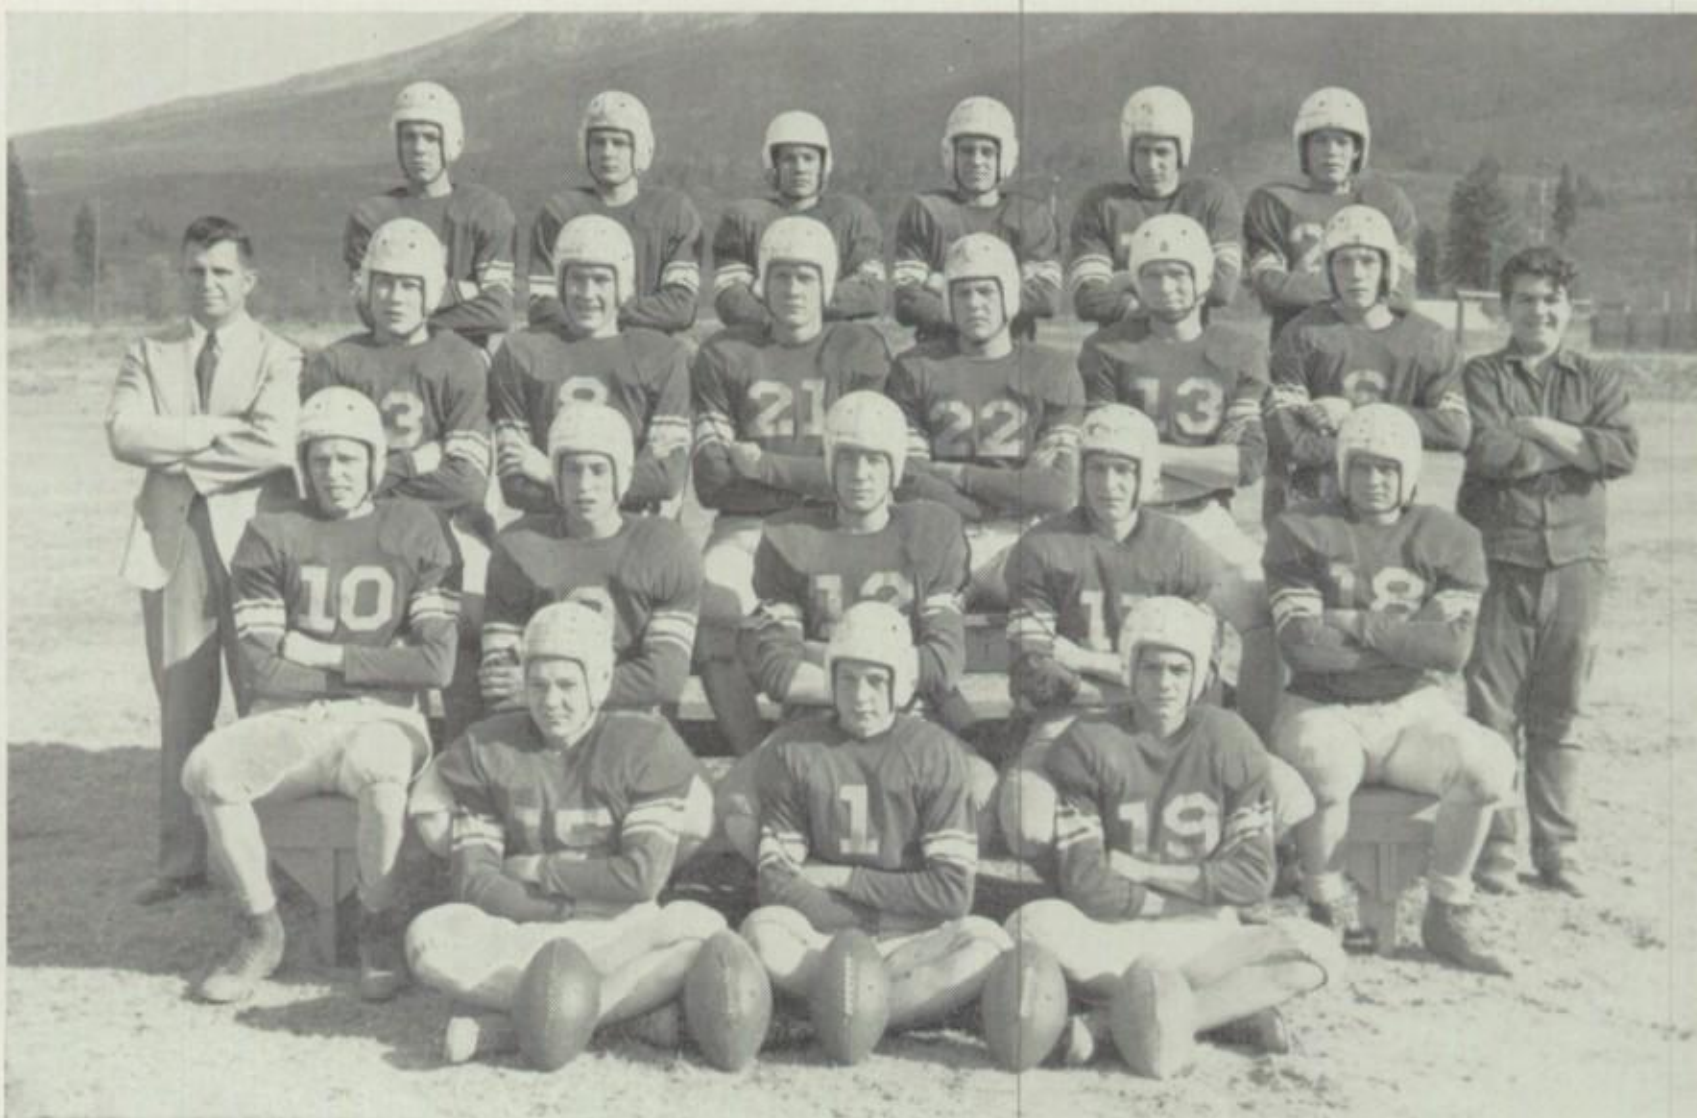

LETTERMEN

At the 1949 annual spring banquet the following officers were chosen to lead the seventeen members of the Block "S" Society through the school year of 1949-50. Delano Acord, president; Bill Drynan, vice-president; and Dick Gasho, secretary-treasurer. Due to the absence of two of these, Darrel White took over the duties of veep, while the chore of secretary-treasurer fell to Ray Henry. The purpose of the Block "S" is primarily to improve the athletics in M.S.H.S., therefore the teaching of sportsmanship plays a large part in the make-up of the Lettermen Club. The Block "S" provides a goal and an award for those boys taking part in the athletic activities of this school. A carnival and Lettermen's Ball were the main non-athletic activities of the club this year.

Coach John Darling is the faculty advisor of this group.

FOOTBALL

A grimly determined, yet inexperienced squad answered the gridiron call at M.S.H.S. this year. There were but seven returning lettermen. Coach Darling should be given much credit for the long hours he spent with the team. The Bears ended the season with a league average of .333. The opening game was a bitter defeat by the Tullake Honkers 34-0. Next game, however, the Bears dug in and turned back McCloud 13-12. Defeat again reared his head as a seasoned Etna eleven took the Bears 26-0. The return game with Tullake was perhaps the best of the season. The Champion Honkers were held to a hard-earned 31-12 win. McCloud again went down 13-12. The last league game was a 25-6 defeat from Etna. The Bears held practice games with Modoc, Dunsmuir, and Fall River. Co-captains this year were Ray Henry and Gerald Brush.

'A' BASKETBALL

So far this season our "A" team has only been badly beaten once, this being the league opener against Weed. This game was a walkaway for Weed as we were out-scored 49 to 27. Although we lost other games, they were all close enough so few people ever went home disappointed. At this writing the season is but half played. It has been necessary to postpone several games due to heavy storms. As we have already played the best teams in the league we stand a good chance of winning most, perhaps all, of our remaining games. Brush is high-point man with 51 points. Scores are to date:

Weed	49	Mount Shasta.....	27
McCloud	34	Mount Shasta.....	27
Etna	44	Mount Shasta.....	43
Fort Jones	37	Mount Shasta.....	57
Dunsmuir	39	Mount Shasta.....	35

FIRST ROW, left to right: Douglas Murphy, James Aubert, John Darling, Coach; Delano Acord, Ray Henry. SECOND ROW: Darrell White, Bob Adler, Gerald Brush, Ted Miller.

FIRST ROW, left to right: Elmo Franchi, Charlton Kirk, John Darling, Coach; Donald Mowatt, Joseph Lamanna.
SECOND ROW: Frank Dalle Molle, Robert Cervelli, Dean Brush, Neil Lark, Ronald Davis, Jay Mills.

'B' BASKETBALL

Like our "A" team, our "B's" have lost four games and won one. The league opener against Weed was poorly played and we lost by a large score. McCloud, however, went down to the tune of six points. The Etna game has been our best so far this season. A 43-point tie at the end of game time necessitated an overtime period in which we were defeated by four points. Dunsmuir and Fort Jones also handed us losses. Our "B" team is composed of short players, many of whom weigh in "C" class, and are always handicapped by their height. However, they should make a better showing in the games left to play. Dalle Molle is leading the scoring with 47 points. Scores to date are:

Weed	48	Mount Shasta.....	21
McCloud	35	Mount Shasta.....	41
Etna	49	Mount Shasta.....	45
Fort Jones	30	Mount Shasta.....	25
Dunsmuir	42	Mount Shasta.....	28

"C" TEAM

"D" TEAM

'C' AND 'D' BASKETBALL

When Coach Graves sent out an urgent call for "C" and "D" hoopsters, ten "D's" and seven "C's" answered. The "C's" started off the season rather slowly as they were defeated by Weed in the opening game. However, McCloud fell before them as did Yreka, Etna, and Dunsmuir in turn. The Bear Cubs, with a record of one loss and four wins, finished second in league play. Frank Dalle Molle led the scoring with 45 points.

The "D" team had to be built from the ground up as there was not one experienced man on the squad. Weed took the opening game from them. McCloud won by only one point. Yreka swamped them, but they bounced back to lick Etna. The final game of the season was lost to Dunsmuir by only two points. Scores:

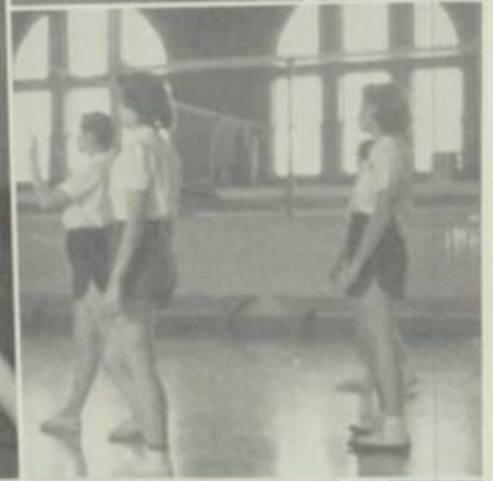

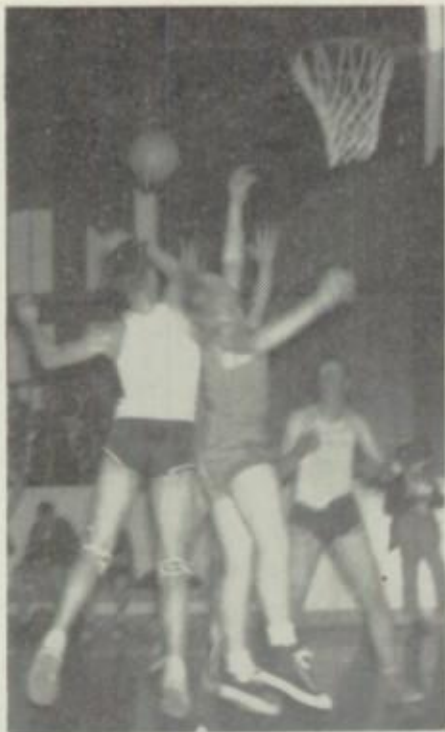

Shasta "C"		Shasta "D"
28-47	Weed	17-11
21-17	McCloud	15-14
32-24	Yreka	26-11
30-15	Etna	9-30
19-16	Dunsmuir	29-27

BASEBALL

The late spring rains turned the local ball park into a muddy lake and kept the Bears from many practice sessions. Sending green players into a game with only a few days' work with the horsehide behind them was a hard task for Coach Lyman Barrett, yet he had to do so. The first game was with Yreka. The Miners easily downed the Bears 28-2. The next game, at Butte Valley, the Bears were turned back 21-3. The Bears steadily improved as the season progressed, still they won only two games, Happy Camp and Fort Jones. We lost our final game which was with Etna. Other scores were: Dunsmuir 10, Shasta 6; McCloud 15, Shasta 8; Weed 7, Shasta 4; Happy Camp 5, Shasta 6. There are only six lettermen returning from last year so another inexperienced squad will be fielded. Coach John Darling realizes this fact and therefore plans to spend much time on the fundamentals of play. If he receives the coöperation he deserves, a fair team will be the inevitable outcome.

FIRST ROW, left to right: Elmo Franchi, Bob Stockton, John Beatty, Frank Dalle Molle, Jim Howarth, Don Mowatt, Richard Zanetti, Vernon Tolliver, Lowell Acord, John Deetz. SECOND ROW: Jim Aubert, Robert Cervelli, Leo Heer, Jay Mills, Ray Henry, Dean Brush, Gerald Brush, John Darling, Coach; Ted Miller, Joe Ceccato, Dick Ceccato, Joe Lamanna, Ronnie Davis, Fred Smades, Joe Carlton.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF '50'

We, the seniors of 1950, being of sound mind and body(?), do hereby will and bequeath these traits to the following: We also give the faculty the supreme power to administer this will.

- I, Joyce Barber, do hereby will my first hard-earned kiss from Bill to Mrs. Converse.
- I, Eddie Baley, will my dancing ability to Bill Stonecypher.
- I, Pat McFall, do hereby will my ability to stay with one man for four years, to Margaret Tschirky. (It was a hard struggle.)
- I, Bud Greenbank, will my one good kidney to my brother, so he may play football with as much zest as I.
- I, Mary Tschirky, do hereby will my overdrawn bank account to Jerris McVey.
- I, Russell Par Smith, will Fish's blonde woman to Neil Estes.
- I, Marguerite Moore, do hereby will my operatic voice to Donna Roper.
- I, Delbert Yordy, do will the deed to the "Klamath Highway" to Durrel Waldin. (I've paid for it in fines.)
- I, Lois Nuenast, do will my bookkeeping "Figures" to Junior Craig.
- I, Dick Fish, do will my undeveloped pictures to Tom Decker.
- I, Mary Reed, do hereby will my sweater collection to Mr. Fosberg.
- I, Jerry Brown, do will (of my own will), my ineligibility to anyone trying to graduate in three years.
- I, Gay Bergman, do hereby will my posture to anyone who wants it.
- I, Conrad Novotny, will my crew cut (among other things) to Jo Ann Burby.
- I, Doris Bateman, do will my athletic ability to David Funk.
- I, Marcella Aaland, do hereby will my "Cousin-ship" to Bill Milligan.
- I, Dewayne Keller, do will my over-driven Mercury to Mr. Esser for Drivers Education.
- I, Alice Stonecypher, do hereby will the print of the grill on Russell to Paul Howard.
- I, Donna Jensen, do will my glamorous pose in this year's White and Gold to Mary Ann Kelleher.
- I, Ruth Zlabek, do hereby will my modeling technique to the Powers School for Models.
- I, Galen Lesh, do hereby will the Proxy Position to any darn fool who wants it.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The former freshmen and future juniors are here again, yes, the class of '52 is on the march.

We started out our year with fine plans for repaying the misdeeds done us last year and adding a few good deeds for the welfare of all. Our first upset came with Freshman Initiation. Due to our vigorous efforts to properly introduce the "frosh" to high school habits and traditions, we put an end to all future freshman "introductions." Undaunted by this disappointment we gave them the annual Freshman-Sophomore party.

With a practical eye for the future we had several money-making schemes. The first of these was a play entitled "The Greener Grass," which was put on for the benefit of our treasury and the enjoyment of the student body. We are still holding our own as far as intellect goes, having several members on the C.S.F.

Now with the gentle guidance of our benign advisors, Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. Iten, we hope to have an even greater future than we have thus far had a past.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The good seaworthy ship bearing our freshman class was launched on August 29, 1949. The crew made up of students from Carr, Winmea, and Tulelake were soon well acquainted—thanks to the initiation which made it safer for us to stick together.

After the wild storms of initiation had died down the class settled for some serious study under the leadership of interested and interesting teachers. One of our members, Kay Potter, made C.S.F. Naturally we were quite proud to be represented.

At the present time we are planning a return party for the sophomore class.

Our good ship will arrive in harbor next fall and we all hope to be aboard as sophomores when she lands.

F. F. A. EVENTS

This year started off with a bang for the Tulelake F.F.A. boys, with a total of 28 head of stock being shown at four fairs, which started on Labor Day week end and ran one a week for four weeks. The total premium awards for the livestock added up to $1,188. Shown under the auspices of the F.F.A. were 11 head of beef stock, eight pigs, eight sheep, and one dairy animal.

The Tulelake F.F.A. booth placed first at the Modoc County Fair and second at the Siskiyou County Fair. Premium money from the booth and exhibits of crops totaled $377.17.

The winter months were filled with shop and project work under the direction of Mr. Hemstreet. A mid-winter carnival netted the club a small profit which was donated to the Athletic Fund. The year was topped off with the annual F.F.A. Ball, followed by the Father and Son Banquet.

"PLEASED TO MEETCHA"

—We Greet Thee—

As knights and ladies of the junior class, you see, we have translated our 20th century greeting, "Pleased Ta Meetcha," found in our play of the same name, directed by Mrs. Converse, into our knighthood theme.

Pledges were made to support our court treasury, which in turn will aid us in our annual quests.

Two concessions at the all-school carnival proved to be profitable.

We are now about to erect our feudal castle, upon whose green our guests and we will frolic the evening of our Junior Prom.

We find four of our members have won the coveted honor of becoming members of the California Scholastic Federation through their jousts with the nights of ignorance.

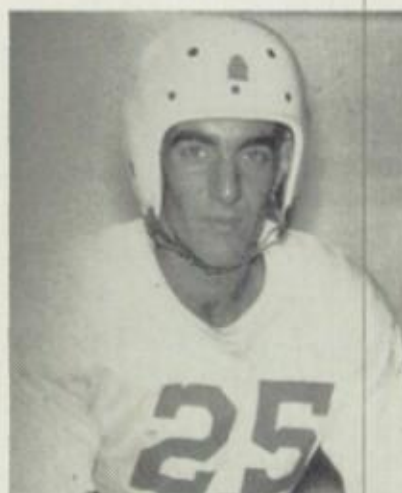

Now on with our quest for the chalice seniordom. Until then.

—Fare Thee Well—

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Of the forty-six seniors in the class of 1950, thirty-nine entered Weed High School as freshmen.

During our four years in high school many of us have taken an active part in the various organizations. As freshmen we were not too good-spirited about our initiation but went all out to give a sophomore return party. Many of us also took part in a carnival to raise funds for our student body. As sophomores, we sponsored the first Amateur Show, which is now an annual affair, and gave the community a sample of the talent in our schools. We have worked together to make such activities as our junior and seniors plays, Junior Prom and Banquet successes.

We have made a good showing in the athletic field. Many of the boys were members of championship teams or made good showings in basketball, football, track, tennis, and baseball. During the junior year, the girls won G.A.A. championships in basketball, volleyball, and baseball. Both girls and boys held their own at tournaments and play days.

Such activities as music festivals, conferences, and games are fond memories, but later this year we have yet to look forward to our Senior Sneak Day and the Senior Ball, and last but not least, our graduation on June 6, 1950.

WHITE AND GOLD

Dorothy Washington very successfully carried out her responsibilities as editor of the White and Gold with her assistant editor, Amy Rossetto. The business manager this year was Eleanor Rippon, who with her salesmen conducted one of the most successful sales campaigns in Weed High history. The staff this year all worked very hard to make the Weed section a success. The staff appreciated the patience and time which was put in by "Scrib," our local photographer, and our advisors, Mrs. Vandevent and Miss Scott.

Y. M. C. A.

The planning conference was held at Fall River on September 17, 1949. It was then decided that the annual conference would be held at McCloud on November 5, 1949. The officers were chosen for the 1950 conference, to be held at Weed. They are: Shirley Hickey, president; Larry Hughes, vice-president; and Rosie Tallerico, secretary.

The organization's officers in Weed High School are: Normalee Bradshaw, president; Norma Cates, vice-president; Pat Jackson, secretary; and Mrs. Vandever, advisor.

F. H. A.

The Future Homemakers of America was one of the most active clubs this year. The club has sponsored a dance and a candy sale. Eight F.H.A. delegates attended the state conference held at Asilomar in November. The club also participated in the World Christmas Festival. The able officers are: Mary Salanti, president; Jenny Stokes, vice-president; and Amy Rossetto, secretary-treasurer. Miss Mills is the advisor.

WEED HIGH WIND

The "High Wind" editors and staffs worked hard and long in making the "Weed High Wind" more enjoyable and interesting to the students of Weed High School.

The fall semester editor was Don Cordero and the spring semester editor, Julia Valles. The advisors are Mrs. Vandevent and Miss Scott.

OFFICE

Under the supervision of Mr. Wade and Mr. Dalla, the office staff wrote letters, filed data, typed report cards, and ran errands. The staff was made up of four seniors and four juniors.

LIBRARY

Under the supervision of Mrs. Hughes, the school librarian, the library staff started a filing cabinet and took care of issuing texts, fiction, and reference books to the students. A number of lumber books were donated to the library by the Long-Bell Lumber Company.

CARNIVAL

The Carnival is a bi-annual affair. It is presented through the efforts of the students and the local organizations. The proceeds go to the student body of Weed High School. The 1949 Carnival was the second. Julia Valles was queen with Marilyn See and Alice Jackson as her attendants.

C. S. F.

The California Scholarship Federation this year shows much improvement over last year's group. This group consists of thirteen seniors, six juniors, six sophomores, and two freshmen. The efficient officers are: Eleanor Rippon, president; Neil Lemos, first semester vice-president; Inez Mattiazzi, second semester vice-president; and Normalee Bradshaw, secretary-treasurer.

HONOR ROLL

The Honor Roll consists of those students who made all A's and B's or those who had a B average.

FOOTBALL

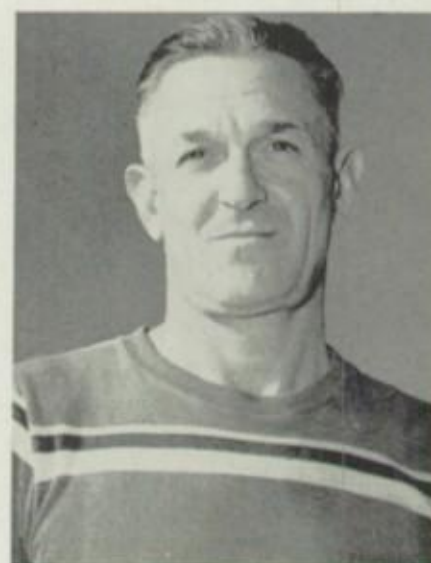

With the inspired coaching of Morton Kaer and his two assistants, Chet Marshall and Ross Furneaux, the Weed High School football team brought home another Siskiyou County Championship. This is the fourth one in as many years for Coach Kaer, and a fine record in anyone's book.

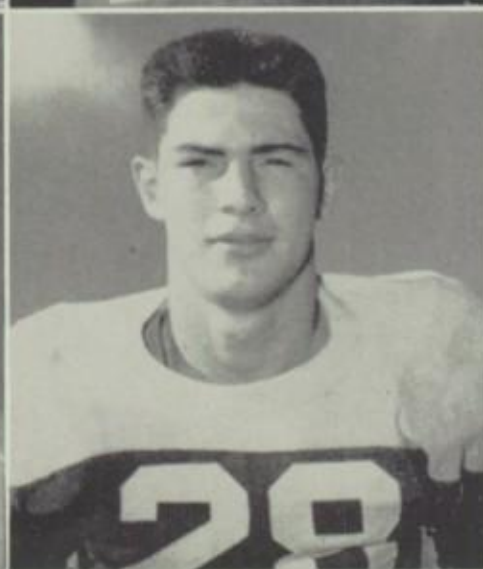

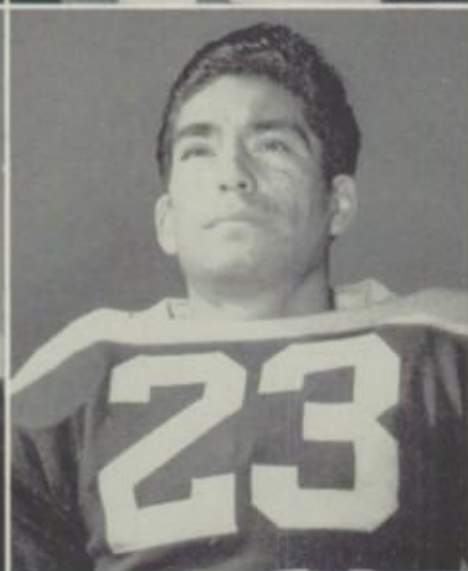

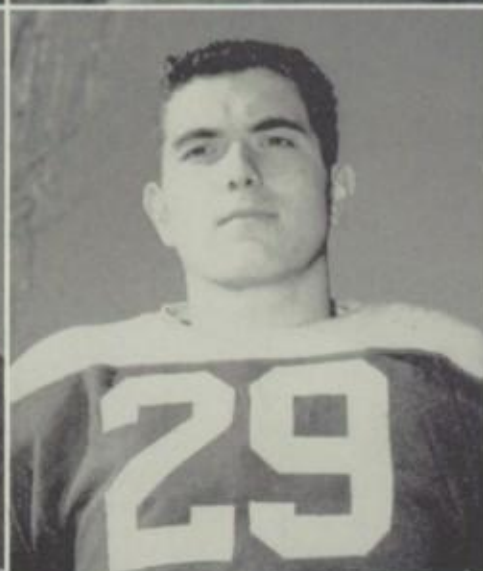

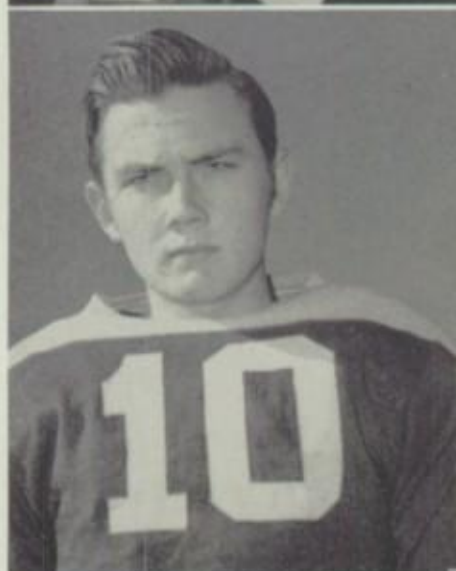

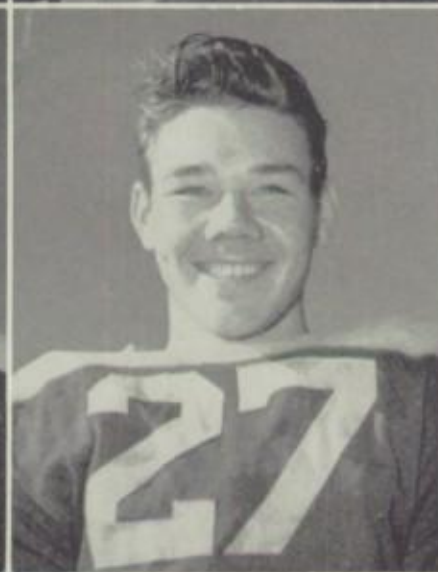

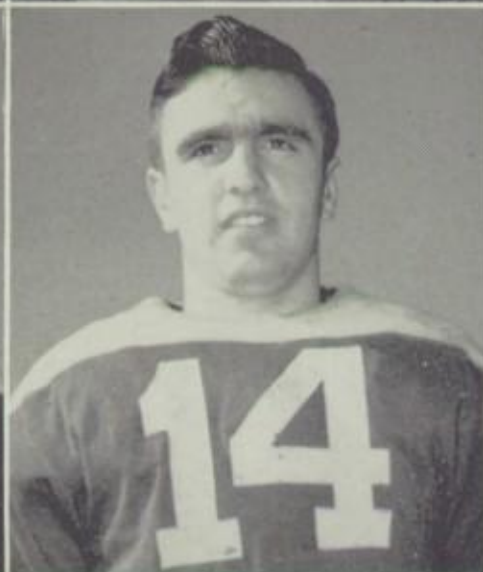

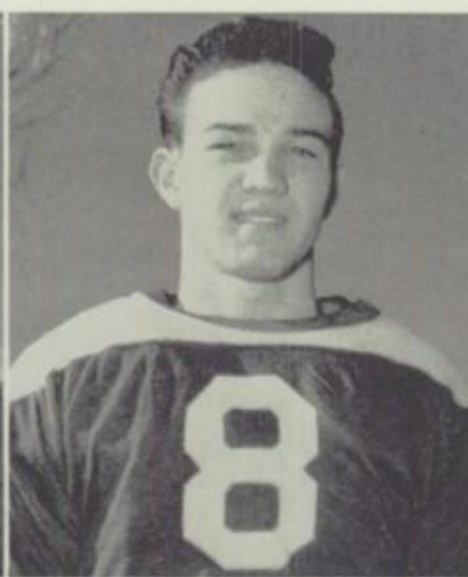

The Cougars will lose only six men this year and only three from the first string. This year's championship was a co-championship with Dunsmuir High School.

'A' AND 'B' BASKETBALL

For the third successive year the Cougar "A's" are undefeated in the Siskiyou County League, as the White and Gold goes to press. Coach Kaer's "A's" have won all four of their league contests. Leading scorers on this team are Melvin Dawson, Gerald Risberg, and Geno Andreatta.

The Cougar "Bs" are also undefeated in the league at this time. The "B's" are coached by Tom Pemberton. Leading "B" scorers are Roger Gibson, Larry Benato, and Larry Hughes.

BASEBALL

Although hampered by inexperience and lack of players, last year's team showed considerable spirit and willingness. This year's team should be one of the top contenders, having lost only three lettermen.

TRACK

Last year's track team was one of the best teams Weed has had in the past several years. They won top honors at Yreka and also captured several important events in meets at Redding and Chico. Although they lost several important lettermen, this year's team should be another challenger for the county title.

LEFT TO RIGHT: R. Cattuzzo, M. Castaneda, L. Andrighetto, L. Olson, P. Adams, J. Shelton, A. Gonzales, F. Niswonger, D. Cordero, R. Acquistapace, R. Gibson, M. Dawson, W. Georges, R. Finato, J. BLOCK 'W'

The Block "W" is an organization of boys who have earned their letters in athletic activities. The lettermen handle problems that arise concerning the awarding of letters, sweaters, etc. This year's Block "W" has been more active than any other Block "W" organization of the past. So far they have sponsored a dance and are now making plans for a smoker, probably to be held in the spring.

The officers are Roger Finato, president; Mario Tarabini, vice-president; and Fred Niswonger, secretary-treasurer. Coach Kaer is advisor to the group.

Only one athlete, Gerald Risberg, received four blocks in major sports. Six other three-lettermen are: Geno Andreatta, Melvin Dawson, Joe Deluca, Roger Finato, Larry Hughes, and Jimmy Williams.

DOUBLE 'C'

The Double "C" stands for Cougars and Cougarettes. The purpose of this club is to promote better assemblies, rallies, and rooting sections.

According to our constitution, Norma Samples, vice-president of the student body, is in charge of the Double "C." The other officers are: Earlene Gilliam, vice-president; and Nita Chiment, secretary-treasurer.

YELL LEADERS

The yell leaders are, left to right: N. Bradshaw, D. McIntyre, G. Blankenship. Our head yell leader, Geraldine, and her peppy assistants, Normalee and Della, were the gals who kept up the rooting section's as well as the team's spirit throughout our games.

On December 3, our yell leaders attended the yell leaders' clinic in Yreka. They brought back many suggestions for developing better, peppier rooting sections.

G. A. A.

This year the Girls' Athletic Association started the year off with the election of officers. The officers are: Dorothy Washington, president; Josephine Mazzei, vice-president; Gerry Blankenship, secretary; Sydney Smith, treasurer; Normalee Bradshaw, senior captain; Orsola Salanti, junior captain; Donna Smith, sophomore captain; and Barbara Welborn, freshman captain.

All the girls belonging to this organization took part in many school activities under the direction of their advisor, Miss Ulving. The G.A.A. for the second year sponsored a spring Fashion Show which was a huge success.

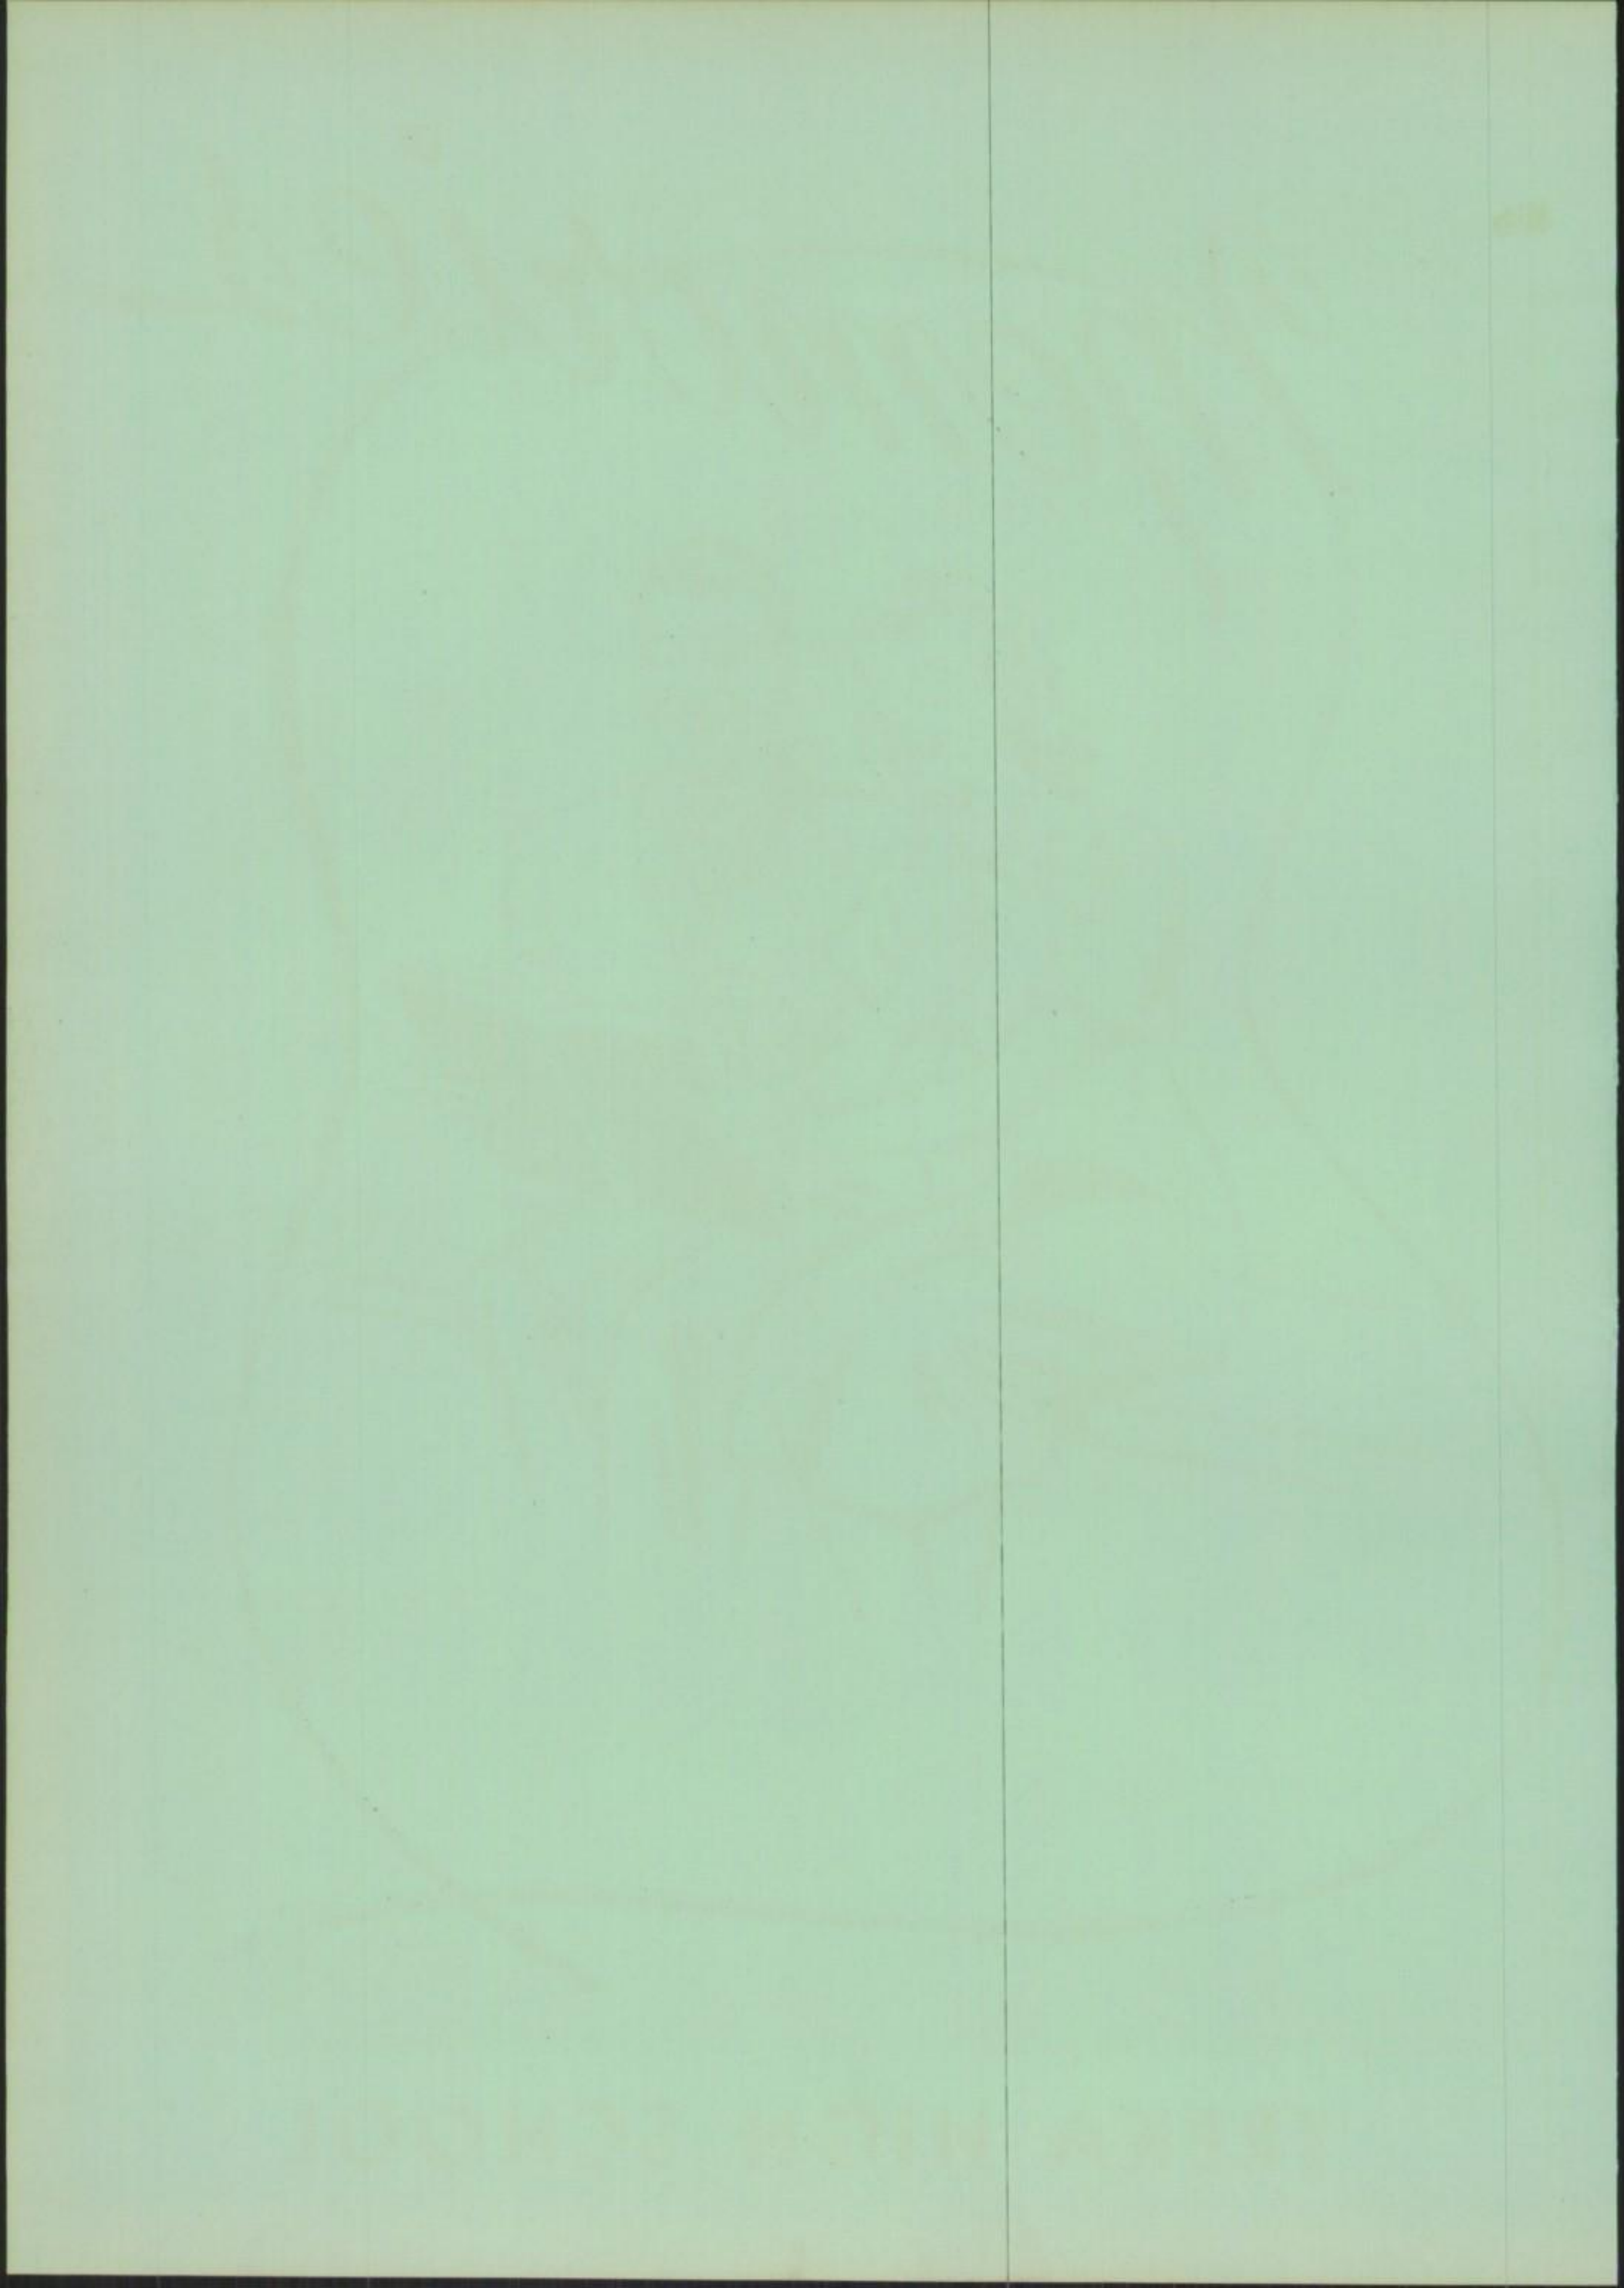

Memories

YREKA HIGH SCHOOL

HAPPY TIMES

SO DEAR TO MY HEART

Memories of 1950—oh, how can you ever forget those happy high school times! But as the years go by and your mind needs refreshing, come with us back through the pages of time to this unforgettable year. Our theme within a theme was song titles, and as you venture through our section you will find it sprinkled with them—song titles describing the teachers and classes—song titles for the division pages and the sport section, too. And that was the year each of the classes had a yell. Remember?

Look out gang
Here we come
We're the class of '51.

The class of '51 can always look back to the time when they were happy-go-lucky juniors, at last having some authority over the lowerclassmen. George Dailey made a super president, while Frances Crowe helped with social affairs. The writing was done by Jeanette Kutzer, and Sally Ryce managed the business end of the deal. Cynthia Hittson and Charlie White, secret flame of the frosh girls, took care of sports.

We're the loudest
And it's true
We're the class of '52.

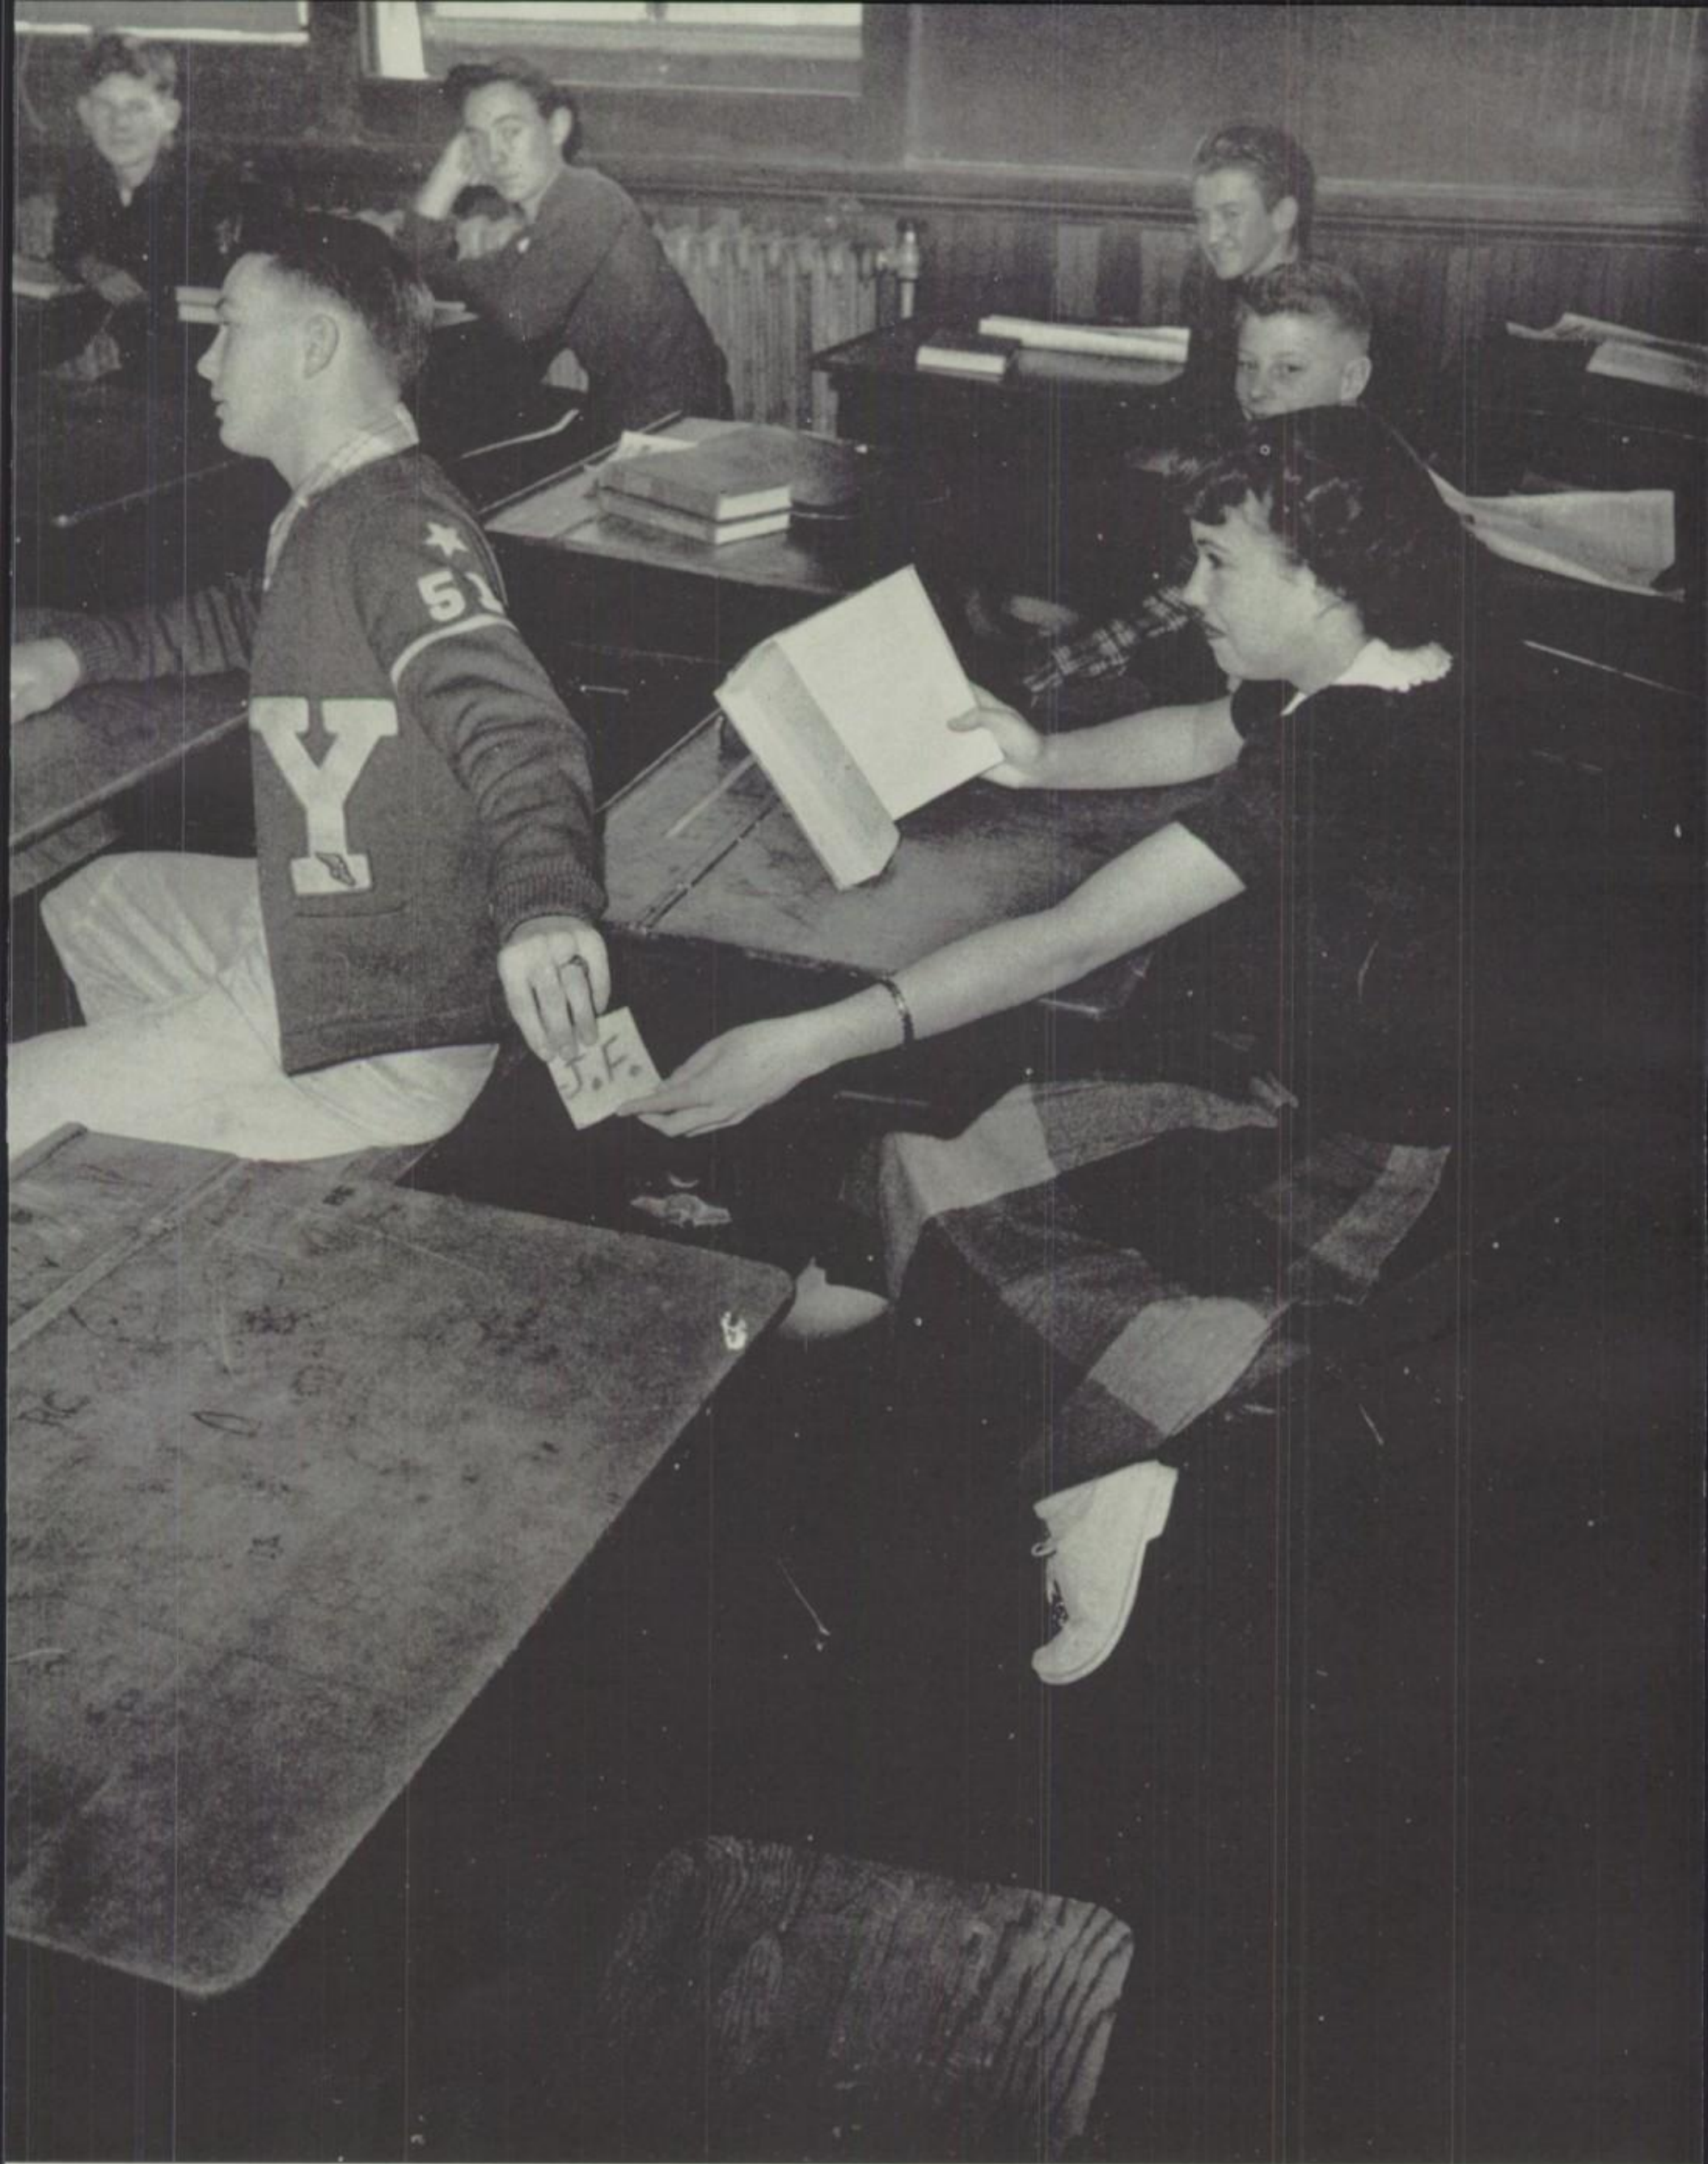

The sophomores, bold and gay, fearing the upperclassmen no more, even thought of canning a scrub once in a while; but sometimes they got the same medicine for their over-anxiousness. They elected Don Miller president, with popular Pete Crebbin lending a hand as vice-president. Ingrid Johnson, as secretary, wrote down everything that occurred at the meetings, while Barbara Bryan had the job of explaining "wha-hoppen" to the funds. Sally (Slatz) Jeter, and smiling Dick Winningham kept the sports going smoothly.

Believe it or not
Here we be
We're the class of '53.

In their first year here the freshmen, eager and ambitious to do just the right thing, made a good start toward being the leaders of tomorrow. For their leader they chose cute Jackie Clark. Kay Masters helped matters along as vice-president, and attractive Ann Deter made an able secretary. Blonde Suzanne Collier was business manager and Ann Cardwell (another blonde) took care of girls' sports, while Dick DeAvilla was boys' athletic manager.

Yes, 1950 was filled to the brim with exciting happenings. That was the year of the big snow on Friday the 13th, when dreams of minimum days came true. For the second time, students boarded busses for field trips to both Sacramento and San Francisco. The Senior Ball with its theme "Winter Wonderland," and the Junior Prom, held later in the year, were memorable activities. Then came the first complete all-school carnival, and keen competition in both girls' and boys' sports, and then—graduation.

Yes, there are many memories of 1950, and whether they are fond, foolish, fancy or fictitious, may they always be "So Dear to Our Hearts."

SCHOOL DAYS, SCHOOL DAYS....

AFTER GRADUATION DAY

We've got the rhythm
 We've got the bop
 We're the seniors
 We're on top.

Having finally reached their goal, the triumphant seniors had a record of which they could rightfully be proud. Much of their success was due to their capable leaders. This year, efficient Russell Reese was commander-in-chief of the clan, telling who to do what and when. That great, tall hunk of galoot, Dick (Soupy) Campbell, held the office of vice-president, while Jean Hallmark kept accurate accounts of the year's events. Louie Machado held the class's money bag, and Dorothy Smith and Dick Hock handled the athletic department.

CABLE CAR CONCERTO

On February 18, 1949, thirty-five students and adults piled into the Y.H.S. student body bus and headed for San Francisco. The four fun-packed days that followed were as exciting and unforgettable as a fairy tale and from the time the bus screeched to a stop on Market street until it left the city by the Golden Gate and rolled back over the hills there was not a dull moment. The Wells-Fargo Bank, the Chronicle Building, Chinatown, the Navy Yard, NBC, Golden Gate Park—we saw them all. In fact, nary a place from the Golden Gate bridge to Playland at the Beach was left unexplored. And the restaurants—we sampled everything from fried rice at the Lotus Bowl to abalone steak at Fishermen's Wharf, roast duck at Omar Khayyam's to a workman's dinner at the Standard Oil Cafeteria. And as the wanderers headed homeward on the 22nd, each one knew that these few days in San Francisco would always be high on the list of memories.

OVER THE WAVES

The radio class under the direction of Mr. Filut has improved by leaps and bounds this year. Every week "Campus Highlights," 15 minutes of teen age news, high school events, and drama sails over the sound waves from the blue room at Yreka High. This studio is as well equipped as any modern radio station, and it is an asset to our school.

GOOD NEWS

Yes, there's good news in the air today. The Yreka High School Miners' very own paper, better known as the IEKA, has just completed a successful year as part of the Siskiyou Daily News.

Every other Friday, the day just wasn't complete until word came through that the IEKAS were coming! When they arrived, all hands quickly turned to page 5, to find the latest details on who was stealing who's boy friend this week. Such matters were listed under the title, "Gospel Truth." After this tense moment, eyes focused on such things as the latest "Senior Spotlight" and "Teacher Feature"—the inside dope and little-known facts on both. Then came "Movie Review," "Mood in Fashion" for the "wimmen," and the strictly nonsense column, "Off the Cob." After this everyone settled down to soak up the regular weekly happenings, the sports parade, and glimpse the pitter-patter of Editor Ray Ruth's column.

"Give credit where credit is due," is a familiar saying. And credit is certainly due the staff and advisor "Tish" Kendall for the much-needed improvement, for since the paper is no longer mimeographed, John Doe can read the school paper without the assistance of an interpreter.

IN MEMORIAM

We see her
Standing there,
So radiant
And so fair;

Where in our hearts
She'll always be
A loving

DEDICATION

We, the students of Butte Valley High School, as a small token of appreciation for the work that Mr. William Hagelstein, of Dorris, has undertaken as a member of the Governing Board of the Siskiyou Joint Union High School District, and who, like the class of 1950, is finishing his first twelve years of service to the district, dedicate to him this, our portion, of the 1950 White and Gold.

Our district is unusual and unique. It is one of the largest in land area in California, containing eight widely scattered schools, two being one hundred eighty miles. This has created many wide and varied kinds of problems, involving a lot of personal sacrifice in time and work to achieve the best for all the students of the district. Since joining the school board Mr. Hagelstein has seen many changes. Tennant has been joined to Butte Valley, and Happy Camp has been established. Butte Valley High went through a fire—and now has one of the most modern plants in the state.

We hope through this medium to present to Mr. Hagelstein his diploma for twelve years of service and extend the wish that he may continue to serve the schools of Siskiyou Joint Union High School District.

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of 1950, leave the teachers and students for all those who should care for them. We leave our smartness to the oncoming class. We also leave our ability to get away with murder to the freshmen who never get away with anything. Here is what each individual in the class of "50" will leave to the students of B.V.H.S.:

- I, Gordon Beeson, bequeath my long legs to Merle Kenaston for playing basketball.
- I, Betty Jean Logan, will all of my "easy office work" to Phyllis Beeson who, I am sure, could use it.
- I, Herbert Geller, will my love of sports to Ralph Barnett.
- I, Steve Jones, leave my chemistry book with Mr. Dresser in hopes that they will be very happy together, because I wasn't.
- I, Jack Lee, will my left arm to Don Kempke so he will be able to pitch left or right handed.
- I, Amelia Sancedo, leave my rides on the bus from Tennant to Butte Valley High School to Wanda Easley who has three years yet to ride.
- I, Louie Magallanes, will my basketball ability to Henry Hellman.
- I, Bonnie Nelson, will my temper to Jean Abell who doesn't have one.
- I, Gordon Truax, will my shrewdness to get out of class to Heber Spangler.
- I, Eleanor Bay, will my ability to act stupid to Patsy Alexander who is always so quiet.

- I, Donas Edsall, will my ability to be a chorus girl, which was willed to me by Norma Miller, to Erma Spangler in hopes that she will find some use for it.
- I, Clyde Shoemaker, will my razor to Erwin Dresser so that he might shave at least twice a month.
- I, Mabel Ruth Reynolds, will good old U. S. History to the oncoming juniors who will have fun making good grades.
- I, Jack McMurren, will my ability to stay in chemistry class to Darwin Myers, who is always in class.
- I, Mary Lee, bequeath my typewriter to Alice Carter who will make good use of it.
- I, Phillip Long, will my ability to play football to Jay Motschenbacker.
- I, Edna Fairless, bequeath my Shakespeare in English to anyone who wants it.
- I, Jack Fine, will my ability to catch and play first base in baseball to anyone who wants it.
- I, lone Wise, will my shortness to Sharon Myers whom I have to bend over backward to look at.
- I, Jack Motschenbacker, will my speed to Roger Porterfield.
- I, Zelma Andrus, bequeath my solid subjects that I have had the past four years to Kutrenah Walden in hopes that she will go to college.
- I, Floyd Krouse, will my roughness in basketball to Gene Sheldon.

CLASS PROPHECY

It was the year 1960 when I stepped out of my plane at the Butte Valley Airport. I just came up from my cattle ranch in Texas, and had a nice trip up here except for a few hair-raising moments when my pilot, Jack Motsie, went to sleep. He started his career as an airplane manufacturer but he went broke and decided to be a pilot.

I forgot to get a haircut so I decided to get one now. I expected to see Acie Egeline still on the job, but to my surprise Eleanor Bay was the barber. She bought him out four years ago with some money she won playing the horses. While I was there Mary Lee came in to see Eleanor. She and her husband have a big house on Dorris Hill, so there would be plenty of room for their three little boys to play. Mary told me that her brother-in-law, Jackie Lee, is main bat boy for the New York Yankees. Also that Bonnie Nelson, the famous man-hater, is touring the country giving lectures on "How the American Woman Can Get Along Better Without a Man."

After I had my hair cut, I walked down Main Street and decided to get some lunch. I went into the Forty Club, now owned and operated by Edna Fairless. I picked up the Butte Valley Star and found several items of interest. It seems that Betty Logan, now a full professor at Stanford University, is getting coast to coast publicity about her courtship with Gordon Beeson, P.E. teacher at Smith's College for Girls. Zelma Andrus is getting worldwide recognition with her experiments on the oxygen bomb she has invented. If it explodes it will destroy a whole continent. There was also an advertisement in the paper for "Edsall Pretzels," the curviest, saltiest, best pretzels in California. In the Tennant News, I saw that Mabel Reynolds had finally been promoted to top sergeant in the Wacs. Jack Fine had just sold the Long Bell Lumber Company and is planning a world cruise to find himself a wife.

Floyd Krouse, who left for Missouri six years ago is now running for governor. He is being backed by Clyde Shoemaker, the rich car manufacturer, who is now on his second million. Edna told me that Amelia Saucedo is still Queen of the Ziegfeld Follies. She has been for the past two years.

As I left the Forty Club, I stubbed and broke my big toe, so I went to the hospital and there, I saw Herbert Geller, who is now Dr. Geller. And his nurse is lone Wise, who gave up city night life and returned to Dorris to practice nursing.

Dr. Geller and I started talking on world affairs and the notorious spy ring that was just captured by the head of the F.B.I., Gordon Truax, who succeeded J. Edgar Hoover. It seems that Jack McMurren is still pushing his Ford and looking for oil in Texas. He found oil once, but only got two barrels, but he won't give up. Louie Magallanes who was crowned "Mr. Hollywood Wolf" for 1960, just eloped with Miss Pin-Up Queen of 1960.

Well, I had better be getting back to my ranch, the Double Bar X. But on my way I am going to stop off in Arizona and see my friends the Hendersons, Gene and the former Steve Jones.

Goodbye, folks . . .

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

The sophomores of B.V.H.S. at their first meeting elected officers as follows: John Hitchcock, president; Frances Johnson, vice-president; Phyllis Beeson, secretary-treasurer; June Birman, reporter.

The first big event of the year for the sophomores was initiation. We gave a dance in honor of the freshmen after initiation to make up for our meanness.

The sophomores are now planning a play, the title of which is "Don't Be Bashful." All are working hard to make it a big success.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

The junior class of 1951 held its annual Junior Prom December 10, the theme being "Candyland Ball." There was a large turn-out and everyone enjoyed themselves.

The class is now planning a play which is to be given May 12. The title of the play has not yet been decided.

The junior class officers are: Betty Wood, president; Delores Connelly, vice-president; Marie Kenaston, secretary-treasurer; Muriel Hoskins, reporter.

Under the direction of Coach Harry Beck the Bulldogs took the Siskiyou County Six-Man Football Championship. Coach Harry Beck led the Bulldogs to the Six-Man Championship in 1942 after which he left for the Army. Our luck seemed to have left with him and it wasn't until he returned to the coaching position in 1947 that we won another championship and now for three consecutive seasons the Bulldogs have done just that.

The Bulldogs started the season by beating Fort Jones 33-26. They then got together eleven men to trounce Bly 40-6 in a non-league eleven-man game. Next they walked over Happy Camp 46-14 in their second league game. Fort Jones was downed 34-13 to continue the Bulldogs' winning streak. They then lost to McCloud in another non-league eleven-man scrap 12-13. Happy Camp beat the Bulldogs 14-8 to come up into a tie for first place. The Bulldogs came back with everything they had to beat Happy Camp 78 to 40 in the play-off to win the championship. Phil Long and Herb Geller were co-captains.

Government Regulation But NOT Participation!

It is frequently heard today that the Government should enter some particular field of private business because it can do the job at a lower cost to the consumer. The Government under this guise has made considerable progress in the Pacific Northwest towards driving the private power companies out of business. The basis for this encroachment can be used for entering any business. The idea that a private enterprise can successfully compete against the Government is false; for no business, big or small, can continue to operate for long when its competitor is virtually tax free, pays little or no interest on the money it borrows, and is not saddled with the multitude of restrictions harassing private enterprise. For example the advocates of the Tennessee Valley Authority proclaim it sells electricity for less than most private companies, but these proponents of Government ownership do not mention the fact that the T.V.A. paid only 3.5% of its gross revenue in taxes in 1949, while the private electric companies paid on the average of 19%. If the business managed companies could have used this tax payment to reduce electrical rates instead of paying it into the Government till to help subsidize Federal projects the myth of cheap public power would be quickly deflated. Let the Government regulate, but not participate.
